Russia Demands Satisfaction On Reparation Plan

No Settlement Of Germany's Economic Future Unless Soviet Gets Reparations Sought

U. S. IS NOT "BUYING" ANY PACT—MARSHALL

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Mar. 28.—The Big Four council of foreign ministers was confronted today with a warning from Russia that there can be no settlement of Germany's economic future unless the Soviet Union gains satisfaction on reparations.

This was made clear by Soviet Deputy Andrei Vishinsky during an all-night session of the Big Four coordination committee which worked until 10 a. m. with only a brief recess at dawn.

Far From Hopeful
Weary-eyed U. S. Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay and other western members of the committee were far from hopeful over prospects of the conference as a result of the night-long meeting.

The American and British delegations have maintained the political problem in Germany without an accompanying agreement on economic unification.

Informed observers therefore believe the Soviet attitude definitely makes success of the conference dependent upon whether or not Russia obtains satisfaction on her reparations demands.

Bound Up With Reparations
Vishinsky left no doubt in anyone's mind on this point. He said the Soviet delegation considers that economic principles and the question of German industrial levels are indissolubly bound up with reparations.

At the same time he said the Soviets had studied various proposals from other delegations and found numerous points upon which it would be possible to reach a general solution. But again he emphasized

Action taken by city council providing for registration and licensing of bicycles and owners in the city, should be a means of halting bicycle thefts, and also of insuring that bicycles riders will be more observant of safety and traffic regulations in the future.

Lawrence county schools sent a large delegation to Edinboro today to take part in the annual district elimination contests in music and dramatic events. Winners in today's program will represent the district in the state finals.

Related reports reaching Pa. News of the damage done by the violent wind storms of the week, indicate that glass business should be benefitting some. Many windows were broken in the district as a result of the winds, it is learned.

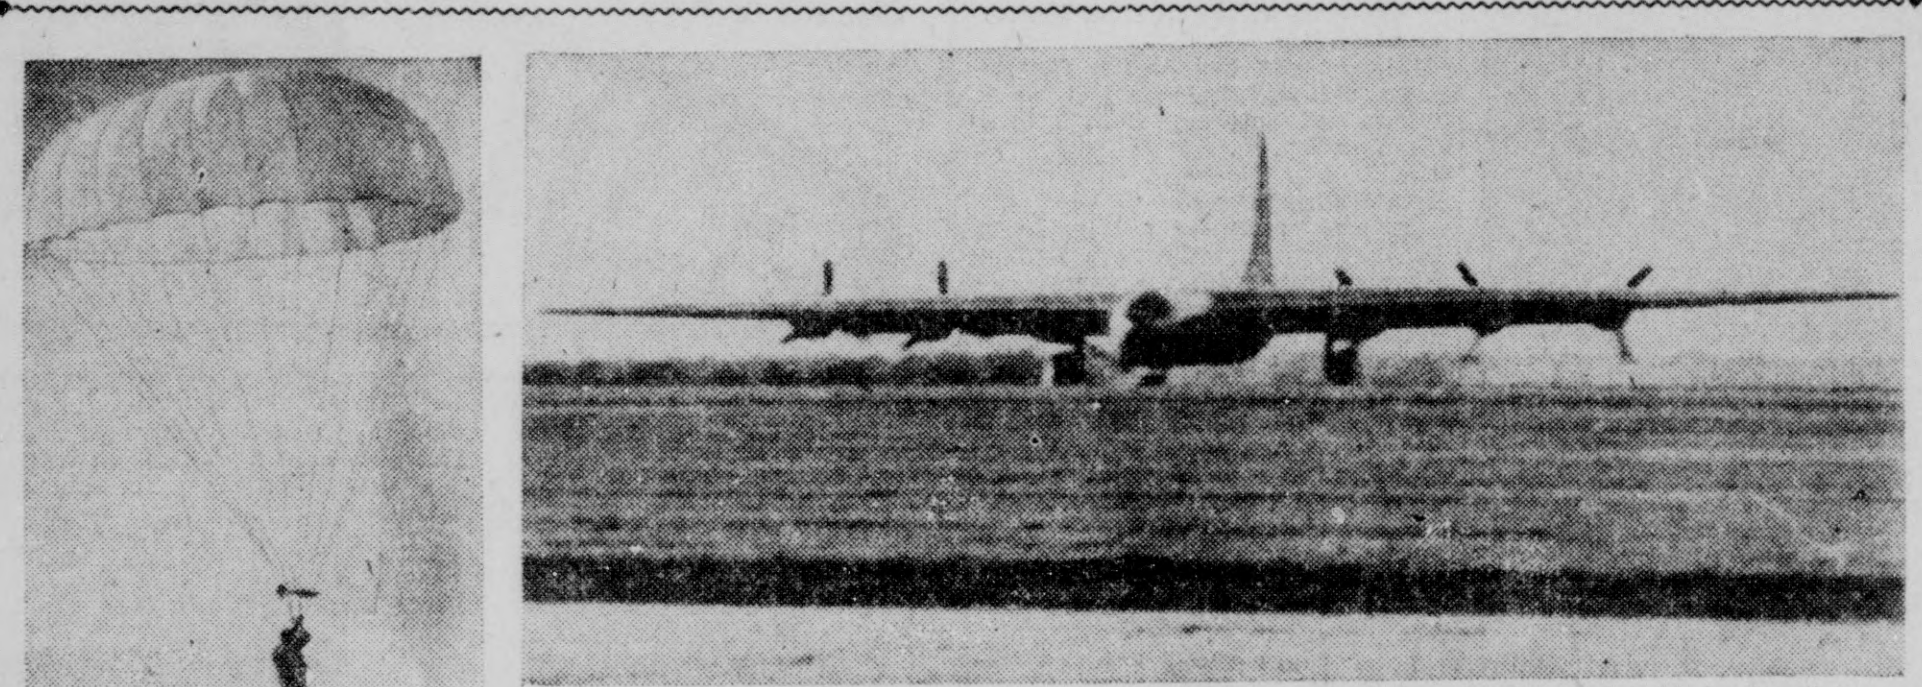

Large residential areas adjacent to New Castle are becoming civic minded, it is apparent. In Neshaunock, Shenango and Union Townships, organizations are being perfected to launch active efforts to bring some worthwhile progress in the districts during the approaching summer period.

Old Man Winter is certainly clinging tenaciously this season. Temperature recorded this morning was below twenty again, and there was still plenty of ice and snow in evidence in the county.

MacArthur Warns Japan To Halt Black Market

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, Mar. 28.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur warned Premier Shigeru Yoshida in a personal letter today that the Japanese government must improve the nation's food distribution system and break up the black market.

The supreme allied occupation commander made it clear that food shipments into Japan for the Japanese people may be contingent on Japan's own efforts to surmount the food crisis.

In a prompt reply, Premier Yoshida promised Gen. MacArthur that the Tokyo government would fashion its course in accordance with plans outlined for alleviation of the food shortage and the elimination of the black market.

No Responsibility Faced
Gen. MacArthur wrote pointedly to Yoshida, saying:

"The allied powers of course are under no obligation to maintain or to have maintained any particular standard of living in Japan. Nor is there any responsibility to import foodstuffs to meet deficits arising from failure of Japan to assure a just and efficient distribution of its own food supplies."

MacArthur warned the Japanese chief:

Will Cost U. S. Huge Sums To Block Russia

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—Two top American military leaders have warned congress that new commitments involving the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars must be made by the United States or Russia will take over in Germany, Austria and Korea.

The warning came from Maj. Gen. John H. Hilldring, assistant secretary of state, and Lieut. Gen. John B. Hodge, American commander in Korea, in secret testimony before the house appropriations committee released today.

Urges New Funds
They urged the committee to approve an administration request for an additional 300 million dollars for relief in American-occupied countries for the remainder of the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Congress previously appropriated 425 million dollars for this purpose. Impressed by the testimony, the committee voted to approve the entire amount which, it stated, should be sufficient to provide all necessary supplies required until September or October. The funds were included in the first regular deficiency bill of the 80th congress, which will be called up in the house Monday.

The generals explained that still additional millions would be needed until the occupied countries became self-sufficient and American forces could be safely withdrawn. The administration is asking 725 million dollars for the 1948 fiscal year and unspecified amounts after that.

These sums would be in addition to the 350 million requested by President Truman for post-UNRRA relief in Austria, Hungary, Poland, Greece, Italy and China, and the 400 million requested for economic-military aid to Greece and Turkey to halt the spread of communism.

Ask Committee Of Congress To Act As Fact Finding Panel

WASHINGTON, March 28.—(INS)—The Senate and House labor committees were requested today to act as a "fact finding" panel in the wage dispute threatening a national strike of telephone workers April 7.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, made the proposal in a letter to Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) Ohio, chairman of the Senate committee, and Rep. Fred A. Hartley (R) N. J., chairman of the House group.

Hunger Riots In Dusseldorf

Once Great City In Germany Scene Of Violence In Hunger Demonstration

IN BRITISH ZONE OF OCCUPATION

DUSSELDORF, Germany, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The most serious hunger riot since allied occupation of Germany began raked the once great city of Dusseldorf with violence today.

More than 100,000 Germans—men, women and children—ramped through the streets, overturning military cars and hurling stones.

One British military official said: "Almost anything would start large-scale violence."

Dusseldorf, in the British zone of occupation, once was one of the most important cities in the rich Ruhr valley.

Ugly-Mood Crowd
Some demonstrators staged orderly marches. But an ugly-mood crowd gathered in a park in the center of the city. They bore placards.

Woman Accused Of Strangulation Death In Hotel Room, Victim Father Of Five

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—(INS)—The defense opened its case today in the trial of Carolyn Kaniuk, 28-year-old divorcee accused of the strangulation-slaying of Paul Digenovario, 46, father of five children.

Digenovario was found strangled by a necktie in a West Philadelphia hotel room, which the state contends he had shared with Mrs. Kaniuk after meeting her on a tour of drinking places.

A taxi driver, a gas station operator and the proprietor of a tavern testified yesterday that Mrs. Kaniuk told them on the morning after the slaying that she had killed a man.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—United States agents today were believed to be hot on the trail of Martin Bormann, ace Nazi war criminal and Adolf Hitler's deputy.

Information reaching Washington was said to indicate that Bormann, identifiable by his squat figure, balding head and an unmistakable "Heidelberg" duelling scar, was last seen en route from "one spot in Europe to another."

Bormann's objective was said to be Spain where he hoped to achieve haven from the man hunt that has been on for him since V-E Day.

Strikes Against Government Are Wholly Unlawful

So Declares Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York State As He Signs Bill

By LEO W. O'BRIEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALBANY, Mar. 28.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, titular leader of the Republican party in the United States, was on record today with a flat declaration that "strikes against government are wholly unlawful."

Ignoring veto demands by organized labor and teacher groups, the New York governor signed the Condon-Wadlin bill which automatically deprives of his job any public employee who goes on strike.

Follows School Strike
The measure was passed by the 1947 legislature shortly after 3,000 Buffalo public school teachers paralyzed the educational system in the state's second largest city for a week. They demanded pay increases, which are partially met by a permanent salary bill still before the governor for signature.

Dewey, who was warned that this approval of the Condon-Wadlin bill would cost him votes in his own state, declared that the measure will prevent "paralysis of government."

Leaders in the campaign to obtain for Dewey the 1948 Republican presidential nomination said today that his approval of the Condon-Wadlin bill would enhance his chances for a second White House race.

They compared the stringent New York state law to the no-strike attitude taken by the late President Coolidge when the Boston police force struck.

War Department Says Curtailments Will Be Necessary

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The war department announced today that budget and personnel curtailments will force the closing of 55 army posts, stations and air fields by June 30.

The shut-downs will also take the jobs of 42,000 civilian employees who will be given job termination notices as soon as possible.

The department said that 35 installations will be declared surplus, and 20 more will be placed on inactive, or caretaker status.

Connellsville To Ring Curfew Again

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Mar. 28.—(INS)—The curfew will ring tonight—at least in Connellsville.

The Connellsville city fathers ordered the police department to enforce the 10 p. m. curfew barring all children under 16 years old off the street.

The action followed the complaint of 18 ministers and priests that the law was being neglected and young girls were being attacked on the streets.

Upon the outcome depends whether an injunction hearing, called by the breweries in an effort to halt picketing of their plants and of taverns, will be held next Tuesday before Judge William H. McNaugher.

Austin To Tell United Nations Of U. S. Policies

Major Pronouncement Of U. S. Policy Abroad To Be Presented This Afternoon

VERBAL EXPLANATION FROM SOVIET LIKELY

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Mar. 28.—The United Nations is waiting with grave calm today for a major pronouncement of United States policy abroad scheduled for delivery before the security council at 3 p. m.

Marked anxiety prevails over the likelihood that airing of the "stop Communism" doctrine in the eleven-nation body will touch off at Lake Success a verbal explosion from the Soviet Union.

U. S. Representative Warren R. Austin, official spokesman for President Truman and the state department after a week of consultations in Washington, has completed a carefully-worded final draft said to boost United States support of U. N. and embracing the whole Greece-Turkey aid problem.

To Block Communism
Authentic forecasts are that while the state will in effect be notified to the security council of U. S. intentions to block Communism with cash and military supplies, Austin's pronouncements will leave the execution of this program in Greece and Turkey outside the scope of the United Nations.

The bulk of the 3,500-word declaration, expected to take less than half an hour for delivery, is under-

Attorney Believes That Missing Hermit Hunted In Mansion Debris Is Dead

NEW YORK, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The mystery of the disappearance of Langley Collyer remained buried today in the ancient upper Fifth avenue mansion which he and his brother occupied as hermits for nearly 40 years.

Police were to continue their search of the junk-filled house as John R. McMullen, attorney for the Collyer brothers, began legal proceedings to have the estate of the eccentric brothers placed under control of the public administrator.

McMullen said he was convinced that Langley Collyer was dead because "otherwise he would have communicated with me." Langley has not been seen since a week ago.

Rescue Teams Continue Search For Mine Victims

Only 31 Of 142 Men Who Were In Centralia Mine Blast Known Survivors

WAMAC, Ill., Mar. 28.—(INS)—Rescue teams kept up a relentless search today for possible survivors of the tragic explosion that killed at least 62 men in the 540-foot deep Centralia Coal Co. mine No. 5 at Wamac last Tuesday.

Most members of the mine—composed of veteran miners—frankly expressed fear that none of the 49 men still missing will be found alive.

But mine officials continued to maintain hope that perhaps some of the missing might have survived.

William Young, vice-president of the company, alerted fire department inhalator squads to be ready for immediate action.

Equipped With Telephones
He said rescue teams now inside the mine are equipped with a telephone, ready to communicate immediately with workers above ground in the event life is still found fighting to win its rendezvous with death.

Thirty-seven bodies were removed from the mine last night. They were mangled, and some burned so badly that identification may be difficult. Earlier, 35 other victims were brought to the surface on cots, covered with army blankets. These dead have been identified.

There was a total of 142 men in the shaft when a dust explosion occurred. So far, only 31 are known to have survived.

Robert Medill, director of the Illinois department of mines and minerals, announced that any investigation of the disaster would have to await completion of all rescue operations.

Medill has been on the scene since the explosion occurred. Two navy officers also are at the mine, acting as observers. The mine is still under the supervision of the National Coal Mines Administration, Federal Bureau of Mines representatives also are on hand.

Three investigations of the disaster have been ordered.

House Committee Cuts $600,000,000 Off Fund Request

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—(INS)—An economy-minded house appropriations committee today slashed approximately 20 per cent from the first regular deficiency bill of the 80th congress, lopping off more than 600 million dollars in administration requests.

The committee voted two billion, 433 million, 234 thousand dollars to defray additional expenses for administrative agencies for the remainder of the 1947 fiscal year ending June 30.

It granted in full a request for 300 million dollars for army-administered relief in occupied countries; two million dollars for veterans pensions, 350 million for veterans compensation, and $24,737,000 for army pay. Many of the reductions were based on what the committee termed bad estimates by the department concerned of what was actually needed.

House-Approved Tax Reduction Bill In Senate

Measure Cutting Income Taxes Is Passed By 273-133 Vote In House

SENATE ACTION MAY BE SLOWER

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Favorable consideration was expected today in the senate on the house-approved tax reduction bill, but indications were that no hasty action would be taken.

Members of the senate finance committee expressed belief that some weeks would elapse before floor consideration on the bill cutting personal income taxes 10 to 30 percent.

The senators stated that the tax measure probably would be called up in committee after disposal of legislation for American participation in an international trade organization. After being reported out, the bill must compete for a place on the legislative agenda with numerous other important matters.

May Seek July 1 Date
An effort was expected to be made to make the tax cuts effective July 1, rather than retroactive to Jan. 1, as provided in the house bill. This move has the support of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, chairman of the Republican policy committee.

Such action would cut in half the three billion 836 million dollar reduction in taxes which the house bill would provide for 48 million taxpayers this year.

Sen. MILLIKIN (R) Colo., finance committee chairman, said he deemed it advisable for congress to obtain agreement on a budget for 1948 before reducing taxes.

No Budget Agreement
Senate and house conferees have been unable to agree as yet on a budget. The house voted to cut

Explosions Fail To Wreck Oil Line In Palestine Plot

JERUSALEM, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Two explosions were set off today by Palestine saboteurs who sought to blow up the pipeline of the Iraq Petroleum company at the Port of Haifa.

The blasts, which occurred near the Shell oil company docks, started fires. The flames were extinguished quickly.

Officials said that three saboteurs had been observed planting four bombs before they made a successful get away.

Two of the unexploded bombs were found after the saboteurs had fled.

Authorities announced that a hunt was begun immediately for those responsible.

It was said that the three, and possibly five, Jews were dressed in Arab garb.

A police and military cordon was established in the vicinity of the explosions.

Lewis Places Mine Disaster Blame On Krug

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—(INS)—John L. Lewis told Congress today that "111 mine workers, more or less, have been murdered at Centralia by the criminal negligence of J. A. Krug."

Lewis made his charge when he appeared before a Senate public lands committee to oppose the nomination of James Boyd, of Colorado, to be chief of inspection for the Bureau of Mines.

Lewis said that the secretary of interior, now in charge of the mines for the government, "Failed to enforce the law and safety code... there is too much blood on our coal."

After assailing Krug, the mine workers chief testified that in his opinion the appointment of Boyd, dean of Colorado School of Mines, was made in a "deal" with Krug. Lewis, his voice raising in anger, testified:

"Krug made a deal with Boyd to give him this job."

Secretary Krug's office was informed of Lewis' charge but Krug had no immediate reply to the mine leader.

The UMW chief, who took the stand at the insistence of Sen. Murray (D) Mont., said that disaster might strike again at any time in the nation's coal pits.

BELIEVE U. S. AGENTS ON BORMANN'S TRIAL

"This government and other Allied governments are naturally interested in determining whether or not he is alive and in apprehending him as one of the principal German war criminals."

At the same time it was revealed that the United States is flooding its diplomatic and consular missions in most of the world with pictures and descriptions of Bormann. The search is even continuing in Latin America although most reports from official agents and unofficial sources now placed him in Europe.

If captured he is subject to immediate execution under the verdict of the Nuremberg tribunal.

"Outside assistance is contingent upon full utilization of indigenous resources which is entirely the responsibility of the Japanese government."

Must Be Corrected

The five-star American general told Yoshida that inflation, as well as the mal-distribution of food and other necessities, must be corrected or "industrial recovery will be further retarded and the achievement of social and political objectives toward which the Japanese people have made such an encouraging start will be endangered."

MacArthur declared that an integrated approach is necessary. He said:

"Accordingly, it is essential for the Japanese government, through the Economic Stabilization board which was created for this purpose, to take early and vigorous steps to develop and implement an integrated series of economic and financial controls which the current situation demands."

"It is not easy, but it can be done. Greece can, with our help, become a peaceful Democratic society, with the living standards of her people above the present precarious methods of survival."

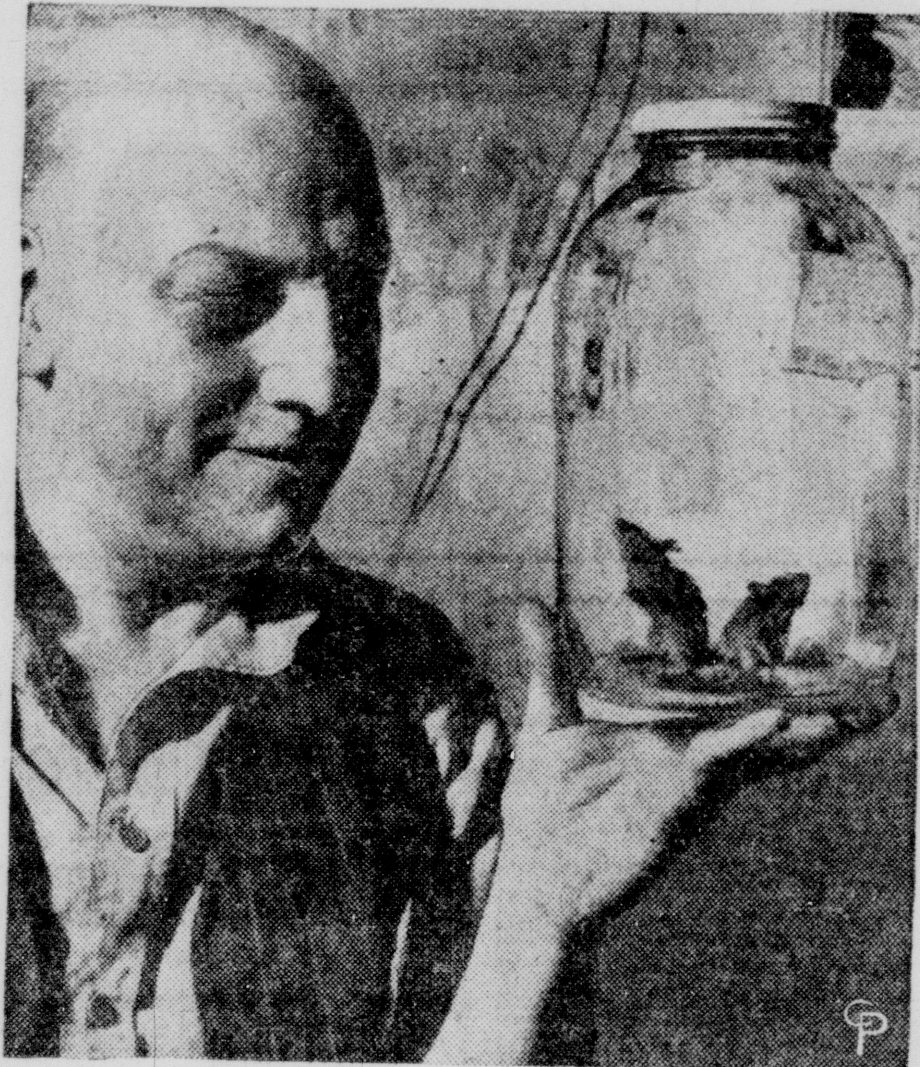

Porter said that if the United States assumes its obligations toward Greece "I have confidence that Greece will not forfeit what I believe to be her last clear chance for independence."

Porter said the economic situation in Greece, now serious, would deteriorate rapidly if there was doubt that the United States was coming to the rescue.

Man Slain Sought To Meet Official Just Before Death

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Mar. 28.—(INS)—Adams county officials disclosed today that Herbert L. Humpert, 70-year-old farmer found slain in his barn near Gettysburg, attempted to confer with District Attorney J. Francis Yake a few hours before his death.

Humpert reportedly visited the district attorney's office Monday afternoon, but left without seeing Yake or divulging the purpose of his visit. A neighbor reported seeing Humpert get out of an automobile in front of the attorney's office.

Humpert's body was discovered in a barn Wednesday and an autopsy disclosed death was due to an intra-cranial hemorrhage resulting from 17 head wounds believed inflicted by a blunt instrument, according to Coroner C. G. Crist. The weapon was not found.

He said a coroner's jury will be impeached since he and Yake were certain Humpert was the victim of attack. State police attempted to establish a motive for the crime, reporting no evidence of robbery had been uncovered. The bachelor farmer was believed rather well to do.

stood to concern itself with Greece and the whole relevant situation while dealing incidentally only with Turkey.

Authoritative predictions are that the entire tone and content will "shun the impression" that the U. S. is apologizing for a tragic mistake but on the contrary will offer pungently the explanation and justification of its new policy.

Soviet Sources Silent

Sources close to the Soviet declaration were silent on Gromyko's intentions on the Austin speech. Competent observers pointed out, however, that the afternoon session offers a rare opportunity to Gromyko to voice Russia's grievances and objections to the Truman "stop Communism" doctrine.

A number of other delegates than Gromyko among the eleven council members are said to be consulting their governments on the advisability of expressing regret and distress at the damaging blow given the United Nations by the Greco-Turkish move from the White House. It is estimated that renewed bitter controversy over Greece in the council can only damage the entire organization further.

Among most delegates, the sentiment is outspoken that President Truman should have notified the United Nations of his "stop Communism" doctrine simultaneously with its disclosure to congress, and failing that, to have avoided any belated rectification and "booster" speeches presented by the Austin program this afternoon.

Dusseldorf trade union leaders ordered a complete one-day local strike. This brought transport services to a standstill and closed down the few remaining factories turning out essential products for the German population.

As the day progressed, it appeared the demonstrations were gaining strength. Authorities were handicapped by the fact that British occupation troops have been greatly reduced in recent weeks.

The comparatively few tommyes and officers on duty were openly booed and sneered at.

Squadrons of armored cars were called out to patrol Dusseldorf's extensive suburbs in event the rioting should spread.

German municipal authorities blamed communists for the disorders.

that this would depend upon a mutual understanding with regard to reparations.

U. S. Not Going To Pay
U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall, however, is not disposed to "buy" any agreement on Germany if it means the United States must pump dollars into the country in order to finance reparations to Russia.

In the opinion of American delegates, such financing would be necessary if reparations are granted on anything approaching the scale of the 10 billion dollars the Soviets are demanding.

Would Consider Plan
American observers put it this way. If Russia agreed to reduce her reparations demands to a reasonable level, and accepted the principle that occupation costs and imports be the first charge against current production, the United States would consider raising the level of German industry to permit payments out of current production.

United States sources fear that the Soviets will not recede to the figure of 200 million dollars annually.

HOUSE-APPROVED TAX REDUCTION BILL IN SENATE

President Truman's 37½ billion dollar budget by six billion dollars, but the senate voted for a 4½ billion dollar reduction.

Only one meeting of the conferees has been held at which the house members rejected a proposed compromise of 5 1-4 billion dollars reduction.

The Republican-backed tax bill, sponsored by Rep. Knutson (R) Minn., ways and means committee chairman, breezed through the house after two days of bitter, Partisan debate, by a vote of two to one.

Three Republicans—Engel, Mich.; Andersen, Minn.; and Buffett, Nebr.—joined with 133 Democrats and one American Laborite (Marchant, N. Y.) in opposing the bill, while 273 Republicans and Democrats voted for passage.

WASHINGTON CALLING
by MARQUIS CHILDS

Can't Feel Too Self Satisfied

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—We like to boast that our channels of news—press and radio—are the most free in the world. We compare them with the controlled press and radio of Soviet Russia which parrot the official government-party line.

But it's a little early to sit back and assume that we have reached a state of perfection certain to endure forever. A report has just been released by thirteen prominent Americans who, for three years off and on, have studied the problem of a free press in a world in which power has become more and more centralized.

That report points to many reasons why we as a nation, and particularly those of us in the newspaper field, can't feel too self-satisfied.

Chairman of the commission on freedom of the press was Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago. Among the members were a business man, Beardsley Ruml, a corporation lawyer, John Dickinson, and professors in various fields. Their study was financed by grants from Time, Inc., and the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Extremists of both left and right will be unhappy over what thoughtful men have to say. Some won't like their report because it dares to criticize the press, radio and movies for their failures. Extremists on the left won't like it because it doesn't yell for government regulation.

One of the chief threats to a free press, the commission found, was the increasing concentration of control over the means of communication. A few men exercising remote control have too little accountability to the millions who are served by main channels of communication such as the radio networks.

Cheapsness, sensation and lying are other threats, according to the commission's report. It is interesting to note that the charge of sensationalism is the one most frequently brought against our press by visiting journalists from Soviet Russia, who like to boast that their press is the best in the world.

Supplement to Law
The only change by law of what the commission recommends is a supplement to the law of libel under which a newspaper could be compelled to publish a retraction for falsehood. In fact, the commission is keenly aware of the dangers of a "solution" by government. They would extend to radio and the movies the free-speech guarantees of the first amendment to the constitution.

What the report suggests, in thoughtful language, is more awareness and more criticism by the public. Perhaps public organization, quite outside of government, is necessary to make the press and radio accountable in the view of conscientious Americans who want to see the free press stay free. They suggest the aid of institutions and foundations for analysis and criticism of the faults of the press.

The report takes a dim view of journalism for its education and research beyond the mere techniques necessary to earn a living.

Means Self-Restraint
What it may come down to is self-restraint. Cheap sensation and, yes, false sensation, can be turned into easy money these days. But that is also an easy way to destroy one of the freedoms that have come out of centuries of struggle and strife.

Sometimes it seems as if we can hear the immortal auctioneer say "going, going, gone" over those freedoms. But that is in moments of pessimism.

I work as hard as I know how over this stint of mine, trying to keep it responsible and honest within the framework of my opinions. But now and then, with the best intentions, you make mistakes—big and little mistakes.

The other day I wrote a piece on Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, pointing out how the Chicago Tribune was attacking him (for his part in shaping the bipartisan foreign policy) with the same unrestrained attacks that they once showered on President Roosevelt. I said that the Tribune had not carried a line of Vandenberg's speech to the Senate in which he went after Gael Sullivan of the Democratic National committee. I was wrong, even though my office checked all editions of the Tribune. In a general story of the Greek proposal, Arthur H. Vandenberg, chief of the Tribune's Washington bureau, included five paragraphs of quotation from Vandenberg's speech.

So here, Col. McCormick, is an apology. We all make mistakes. And maybe if we would admit them a little often, it would be a healthy thing for everyone concerned.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE BILLS
The mailman brings the monthly bills.
For bread and meat and honey,
For all the women's pretty frills.
Which men must pay with money.

The items run for bonnets new
And things the girls are wearing;
And as the men-folk run them through
They sound as though they're swearing.

"What's this?" "What's that?" in rage they cry.
And make a fuss about it—
As if they doubted this reply:
"We couldn't do without it."

But even though they like them not
The bills like that I sigh for,
I think they are a lucky lot
Who still have wits to buy for.

"The Mountain Labored—!"

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

(Distributed By International News Service)

Good news is as elusive as a Collyer brother but at last we know protocol for a revolving door.

An etiquette expert says it makes no difference whether the lady or gentleman goes first . . . but he must never ride on her push.

If he grasps the handrail, lifts his feet off the floor and cries "Wheel!" . . . he is no gentleman.

But let us consider this in its larger sense. Let us say that Greece represents the lady and Russia represents the gentleman . . . what then?

We are still in a revolving door.

But don't let it get you down . . . fingers were made before forks and caves were made before houses.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Hidden away in a story in the New Yorker magazine there was one sentence which contains sounder philosophy than anything I have ready for a long while.

It spoke about a father who was always very critical about his children when they did anything wrong or got bad marks in school, but who praised them effusively when they distinguished themselves.

"Then and there," said the sentence, "Max made up his mind that if he ever had any children he would comfort them during their failures rather than praise them for their successes."

That sentence brought my own childhood back to me and reminded me of the childhood of several of my friends who had told me that they were always afraid of their parents.

In a Westport, Conn., high school a questionnaire was recently prepared which was to give the answer to many of the questions dealing with juvenile delinquency.

By far the largest number of answers indicated that the average youth does not get the proper guidance and advice from his or her parents.

Young people cannot take their parents into their confidence, the students complained.

There is too much scolding, too much preaching and not enough friendship and trust, they said.

I wonder how many of you parents remember on reality how terribly lonely childhood can be.

There are plenty of young friends, of course, there is plenty of fun—and plenty of temptations.

But can the average boy or girl go to mother or father and discuss the problems of youth frankly and freely with them?

Children want to know not only that a thing is wrong but why it is wrong.

Take sex, for instance. I don't care how you try to disguise this business of sex, it is bound to crop up again and again in every youngster's life.

Those Westport students were unanimous in their criticism of their parents as far as sex guidance is concerned.

The subject was either avoided or treated in such a sketchy and unsatisfactory way that nothing was learned and no benefit derived from the parents' advice.

Is it any wonder then, that there is juvenile delinquency? Let me tell you one thing: Children are no worse today than they ever were.

With few exceptions they are good and have all the necessary equipment for useful maturity.

But how can they grow up to all their potentialities if they must learn about life in gutters and washrooms rather than in their homes, if they are scolded when they need consolation and praised only when they don't need praise?

Comfort them during their failures and anxieties rather than just praise them for their successes! (Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Senate Insurgents Serve Good Purpose

WASHINGTON, March 28. NOT many informed persons question the value of a few independent or insurgent in a House or Senate majority no matter which party is in power. Such a group, when composed of sincere men, unquestionably serves the national interests. They keep the majority from undue complacency. They prevent it from becoming either too radical or too reactionary.

They center public attention on programs, indicate moderation, lessen secrecy and often compel constructive compromises. If all the members of a majority were docile, well disciplined, and regularly followed the party line, inevitably the party leaders would become arbitrary, dictatorial, inflated with power. That is exactly what happened to the labor bosses outside of Congress. Too much unrestricted power has resulted in abuses, with consequent damage to themselves, their unions and the country.

IT is, of course, foolish for minorities to be too united but in every political majority a certain insurgency, as a good, can be extremely beneficial. However, there is another side to this. Conditions frequently exist under which insurgency can do more harm than good. One example is when the insurgents, though able and sincere, are so convinced of their own rectitude and vision that they regard all who differ with them as ignorant or vicious or both. Accordingly, they are willing to go to such extremes as to completely nullify all party leadership, wreck a party program and convert the majority into a minority. That promotes a legislative chaos, bad for all concerned—including the great nondiscriminating American people.

ANOTHER example is when the insurgents, instead of being able and sincere, are either cheap and shallow or well meaning, though not very smart men, who have become insurgents not so much from conviction as because of personal reasons or because of the favorable publicity so easily reaped by the voluble dissenter. It is not true of all of them but it certainly is true that among the Republican insurgents in the present Senate there are several more easily recognized as belonging in the latter class than in the former. It is a little hard to blame them, because favorable publicity is a heady drink for most politicians, extremely easy to grow fond of and most uncomfortable to be without.

AT this session, the insurgent Republican senators have literally been bathing in it. Let one of them "insurge" just a little and a journalistic chorus of the left promptly proclaims him as "able and independent." Those who make a practice of insurgency find themselves constantly referred to as "great liberal statesmen"; "hard hitting and industrious"; "understanding and sympathetic"; "vigorous and forthright"; "fearless and sincere"; "broadminded and hard working"; "a true friend of labor"; "uncompromising foe of injustice," etc., etc.

For just one act of mild insurgency a short time ago found himself conspicuously mentioned for the presidential nomination. Of course, that is absurd; but there are not many politicians who would not have been pleased—as this one certainly was.

IN most cases these complimentary descriptions do not fit the subject at all—but that makes no difference. The senators, thus buttered, love it, eagerly lap it up, thirstily beg for more. Eventually this forces the greased senator into a position where he opposes his own leadership, not only when it is wrong but when it is right. What it does is eventually

What People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director: "The Communists are seeking to weaken America just as they did in their era of obstruction when they were aligned with the Nazis. Their goal is the overthrow of our government."

WASHINGTON—Fiorello H. LaGuardia, former mayor of New York and ex-UNRRA director, objects to unilateral aid to Greece and Turkey: "If we start going in there alone we will rue the day—we can't do it. Conditions in the Balkans can't be corrected overnight. Those people have been at each other's throats for years!"

NEW YORK—Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, commander of the eastern sea frontier: "The greatest immediate danger today to this and to many other countries is of that infiltration; infiltration of disloyal persons whose purpose is to produce chaotic conditions that give birth to state socialism and finally totalitarianism and the overthrow of our present government."

In one day the value of the American dollar jumped from 13,500 to 18,500 Chinese dollars. Yet some people complain of inflation and the absence of bargains.—Kansas City Star.

The World and the Mud Puddles

ELLIOTT AGAIN

A congressman with perhaps a little touch of muck in his system rose in Congress the other day and harked back to a prophecy made to the nation about three weeks before the last election. It was a statement by Son Elliott Roosevelt, following the emasculation of OPA controls that fifteen dollars-a-loaf bread was just around the corner.

Nobody, of course, takes Son Elliott seriously—particularly in matters relating to business of finance. But this prognostication was so obviously demagogic, and so typical of New Deal scare propaganda, that it is well to have the public reminded of it as a sample of what Son Elliott's future declarations may be worth.

It is ever here fifteen dollar bread in this country it will be due to wild inflation resulting chiefly from the New Deal's astronomical deficit spending and the commodity scarcities created by New Deal coddling of organized labor and autocratic price controls. With his present literary income, however, derived from the commercialization of the family name, even wild inflation might not matter greatly to Elliott.

State Police Say:—

Many drivers do not seem to realize that winter storms are the signal for a large number of workers to begin their specially assigned task of keeping the highways open for travel. It is often necessary for snow plows and sanding crews to brave the stormy weather and darkness when visibility and traveling conditions are at their worst. Their job is to keep highways open and safe. Motorists should exercise every precaution for their protection.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD'S SPENDING ALLOWANCE

When the next depression comes it will be very difficult for hundreds of children, youths, and their parents to adapt themselves to pinching pennies.

For ever so many parents and their children, easy money has meant excessive spending for luxuries. They have not thought much about saving for the future. While some parents during recent years have not spent so freely because the things they wanted were not available, their children, as a rule, have found ready ways to spend on passing pleasures.

Spend On Luxuries

Pretty generally, up to certain levels of income, parents whose income has greatly increased tend to spend on luxuries for their children and to give these children money for luxuries in proportion to these parents' income, with the result that many other parents whose income cannot afford it have tried to keep up with the Joneses and give their children money for luxury at great personal sacrifice to themselves and denial of the whole family of essential foods. While such as always happened, it obviously has occurred to a marked degree in recent years. Certainly year by year children are spending for their own passing pleasures a larger and larger proportion of the family income.

Parents who have abundance of money need to evaluate what is the best for the welfare of the child now and later in considering how much money to let him have. Also parents with limited means should likewise consider the present and future welfare of the child regarding the money he may have for luxuries. When parents give a child spending money at inordinate sacrifice to themselves and the whole family, they clearly do him moral and spiritual harm.

No Self-Discipline

If the child can earn what he spends but no self-discipline plan for husbanding and budgeting his earnings, see what he has lost. Regardless of his parents' income, the youth working full-time and living at home is gaining a wrong sense of money values and moral obligations unless he pays board or saves at least an equivalent amount for his later education or other betterment.

As we were recovering from the last great depression the cry everywhere was, "Spend." The idea of saving was lost and has not been regained to any great extent since. Nor has there been any concerted emphasis in higher education, adult education or public education of children on thrift. Neither have religious leaders often emphasized in recent years the moral and spiritual values of thrift. I have often thought that if I were a clergyman

Knutson Pulls No Punches

Opening debate on the House tax relief bill, Representative Knutson certainly pulled no punches in denouncing the huge burden and the kind of taxes the New Deal saddled on this country which the Democrats would now continue if they could have their way.

Those taxes in peacetime weren't designed so much for revenue as for punishment—punishment of persons sufficiently enterprising to accumulate enough savings to put them into industry, boost production and make new jobs—"risk capital" is the name. The New Deal idea was to take away those savings and give them to a spendthrift government.

"For years," said Mr. Knutson, "we Republicans have been warning that the short-haired women and long-haired men of alien minds in the administrative branch of the government were trying to wreck the American way of life and install a hybrid oligarchy in Washington through confiscatory taxation."

President Roosevelt made no secret of his purpose to utilize the taxing power to effect the New Deal doctrine of "redistribution of wealth"—a purpose largely achieved and to the serious injury of the country's prosperity. Money that otherwise would have been used for expanding industry and employment was quickly gone with the wind. Nobody benefited from government extravagance except the job-holders and New Deal hangers-on.

The new tax bill mayn't go far enough toward correcting this evil, but it's a good start toward junking the pernicious New Deal tax philosophy, freeing enterprise from its straitjacket and providing some relief for all.

—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Hints On Etiquette

One should always suppress a sneeze or cough when attending a concert or play, if at all possible. A paroxysm of uncontrollable coughing at such time, calls for the exit of the victim, until the spasm is passed.

Words Of Wisdom

Death is the crown of life; were it denied, to live would not be life, and even fools would wish to die. Death wounds to cure; we fall to rise and rein; spring from our fetters; fasten in the skies. —Young.

Bible Thought

No servant can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will love the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. —Luke 16:13.

In View Of The News

By J. C. OESTREICHER
I. N. S. Foreign Director

There are prophets of doom who day in and day out mourn the so-called passing of England as a world power and a vast storehouse of wealth, culture and learning.

There are perhaps millions of persons who have been led to conviction that the nation as a great entity is gone—physically ravished by bombs and mentally prostrated by a succession of weather crises, muddled leadership and a progressive abdication of responsibilities.

But a brief look at any British newspaper today discloses an astonishing vitality on the part of the Britons and a quiet determination that all Cassandras notwithstanding, things will continue to go on much as before.

The situation is highlighted particularly at the moment because two of the world's greatest sports events will be run off in England this Saturday.

One is the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree racecourse near Liverpool where 60-odd big jumping horses will try to race 4½ miles without throwing their riders or breaking their own legs.

The other is the annual Oxford-Cambridge boat race from Putney to Mortlake on the Thames river whose banks will be lined by half a million spectators or more.

There is only one unusual factor in the staging of these classic sports events. This is the running of the Grand National on a Saturday instead of in midweek as usual. The government decreed this step because thousands of British workers, like American baseball fans, had a mass tendency to attend funerals of distant relatives on Grand National Day.

Anyone who has witnessed at first hand the positive and appalling moral, mental and physical decay of large areas on Continental Europe is invariably amazed at the recuperative powers of the British despite their war and post-war hardships.

The House of Commons, bombed out by the Germans, is being rebuilt with a rich new stone quarried in the north of England.

The world-famed tailoring establishments of Savile Row, which suffered a similar fate, are being refurbished, slowly but surely.

London has 44 legitimate theatres, each of which is playing to packed houses, as against 31 on New York's Broadway.

The 20 top-flight movie houses in the city's west end likewise are doing capacity business.

The Bank of England, although nationalized, has lost none of its immense prestige throughout the world.

And on a far more homely basis, London's subway cars still make New York's look like untended hen-houses on a backwoods farm.

These things may not prove a very great deal, but they hardly look or read like the premature death of a nation.

WHAT LIES BEYOND?

Anyone who has ever gazed at the skies on a clear, moonless night, wondering at the myriad of stars shimmering in their dark depths, must feel a stir of excitement within him at the news that the 200-inch telescope at Mt. Palomar, Calif., will be in use by the end of the year. The announcement means that astronomers will soon probe further into the vast mystery of the universe.

The questions they will ask can be bound up in the question many persons have asked on a starlit night, the question men have asked since the human race began, the question that will be asked until there is a final answer. It is: What lies beyond?

They may put it more concretely by inquiring whether the stellar systems extend indefinitely or whether there is a boundary beyond which the nebulae are fewer and fewer. But that is only to phrase the query in limited terms when the truth is that it has no limits.

President Fosdick of the Rockefeller Foundation had that truth in mind when he said, in making his announcement, that the great new telescope at Mt. Palomar is "a mighty symbol of man's unique distinction, his aspiration to know." Here is an instrument that cost $6,250,000 and has taken 19 years to build. It may serve no practical purpose in the sense of increasing what are termed the creature comforts. But it will enable man to see twice as far as any other telescope ever built.

What then? Why then, if there is more to be learned, it will be imperative to construct still another implement that will enable man to peer still farther into space. It is not in man's nature to be content with what he knows as long as a single veil remains unpierced.

TOO EARLY TO ACT

As Americans look at the world around them they will find it easy to accept the statements, jointly presented by the United States and Great Britain, that the time has not yet arrived when it is possible to take active steps toward disarmament. This does not mean that the matter should not be considered or that studies and inquiries looking to that end should be abandoned. It is simply recognition of the obvious fact that peace is still far from assured and that international security remains only a hope.

When the U. S. State department is willing to declare publicly that Soviet Russia is not only a "potential aggressor" against Greece and Turkey but an obstacle to unity in Korea, it may as well be admitted that America's course must be one of readiness for any eventuality. Under the conditions it would be foolhardy government which would even suggest that the United States ought now to scrap or substantially reduce its Army, Navy and Air Forces.

It is the position of this country and Great Britain, as revealed to the United Nations, that there can be no disarmament until complete confidence is the rule among nations and until all nations are prepared to open their doors to an inspection of their military activities. Certainly this is not too much to ask and just as certainly any state which genuinely wants a balanced reduction of armaments ought to be willing to agree to it.

Apparently all nations, except Russia, would be willing to enter into an agreement of this sort. Thirty-five years ago presumably every nation, except Germany would have been willing to agree to it. Ten years ago Germany and Japan would have dissented. One hundred and thirty-five years ago France certainly would have been a hold-out. At one time the Spanish empire would have essayed that role. Likewise, in another era, the British empire.

If, as a military leader says, the time will come when this nation will maintain military bases on Mars, the ramparts it watches certainly will be scattered.

Those who proclaimed that the size of the national debt didn't matter because "we owe it to ourselves," are loudly proclaiming now that income taxes cannot be reduced because the national debt must be cut first.

G. O. P. Majority Standing Firm

No Sign Of Break In Republican Majority In State Legislature Is Evident

OTHER NEWS OF STATE ACTIVITIES

HARRISBURG, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The General Assembly is rounding out the third month of the 1947 session and so far there has been no hint of a revolt among the 166-member Republican majority in the house. When the session convened in January, the comparatively heavy G. O. P. delegation led to speculation whether independent-minded members would go down the line for administration legislation. If any break has been threatened, it has been squelched by leaders in the Republican caucus. Governor Duff's recommendations for new and extended industrial and luxury taxes expected to yield $160,000,000 during the 1947-49 biennium has sparked some discontent among individual members but it was doubtful whether they would jump over the traces when their votes were cast.

House Minority Leader Hiram G. Andrews has no hope of wooing malcontents away from the GOP wing. He has been forced to content himself with jibes and administration legislation, parliamentary delaying tactics and denunciations because his minority cannot buck the Republican steamroller. Similar tactics were part of Republican strategy when the Democrats controlled the house. There are occasions however, when the nature of the legislation requires leaders to release members from caucus pledges. Such a release was expected should legislation authorizing horse racing come to a vote.

The Department of Commerce has begun distribution of the 1947 edition of "Fishing Accommodations in Pennsylvania." The 98-page booklet does not presume to advise anglers where to find the "big ones" and prior to publication the editors rejected a suggestion to include tips on types of baits used by other successful fishermen. In addition to locating good fishing spots, the booklet lists hotels, inns, camps, and other places anglers may secure accommodations. It also reports where supplies and guide service may be obtained and which railroads or buses serve the fishing areas. The first edition of the booklet was issued by the department four years ago on a limited basis but demands have skyrocketed this year. The department is planning to offer a similar booklet covering Pennsylvania's summer camps.

State police train German shepherd dogs to help them in their safety talks given before school children. The dogs are trained at the State Police Training School for rookies at Hershey. The dogs are trained to obey commands instantly and to pay no attention to anybody but troopers. When State Policemen go into a classroom they put the dogs through their paces to win the attention of the children. A favorite trick is for troopers to order the dogs to stand still and then ask the children to try and make the animal budge. No matter how much order or pulling and tugging the dogs receive, they never break. State police no longer train dogs to be vicious man hunters.

BOYS AND TOADS

Boys used to think that warts came from handling toads. Nowadays we know that warts are contagious. They are catching. Care taken of swimming pools are very careful about warts. They do not allow persons with warts to use the pool.

A planter wart is one found on the sole of the foot. A palmar wart is one on the palm of the hand.

A person may have one wart or a lot of them. They may be large or small. The small ones are just as contagious as a large seed wart.

Warts should be removed promptly. You may have a wart on your elbow where it doesn't show very much. The next one may be on your nose. That would be too bad.

It might be on some other person's nose.

Toads do not seem to mind having warts.

Who wants to be a toad.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

make the insurging senator the mouthpiece for and instrument of the special groups and interests, support of which is required by the left-wing journalists before they refer to any politician as a "liberal" or give him any degree of commendation.

THE extent to which this game is being played with certain senators is so obvious that it is difficult to see why those who are sincere do not become suspicious. It would seem that a senator would have to be unusually obtuse not to be aware of it. Taking this greasy publicity as seriously as some of them do, and trying to live up to it has a tendency to make them ridiculous. The real weakness of the current Republican insurgents in the Senate is not only that they are being commended solely by an element whose policies were repudiated at the recent election but they are themselves supporting those policies. Thus they are out of step not only with their party but with the country. This is anything but a sound basis for beneficent insurgency.

Angry Exchange At Moscow Conference

Vishinsky Is Center Of 'Angry' Exchange Over Displaced-Persons Problem

By LEON PEARSON
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Mar. 28.—Andrei Vishinsky found himself the center of an admittedly "angry" exchange Thursday during debate by the Moscow conference coordination committee over the displaced-persons problem.

Herve Alphand, taking sides with Britain and the United States, opposed the forcing of German-speaking peoples in other lands to return to Germany.

The French delegate pointed out that "many of these people are completely loyal to their adopted country," and added:

"Take the example of German-Americans. They showed their loyalty to the United States during the war."

At this, Vishinsky replied:

"Come now; you are overlooking the fact that some were disloyal."

Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, representing the United States, bridled immediately. The American general asserted the Russians were not qualified to have opinions on this subject, remarking:

"What about the Russians in Vassalov's White Russian army?"

The exchange waxed warmly, with more recrimination than the delegates have seen thus far in the present conference. Finally Vishinsky remarked:

"I think we'd better adjourn for lunch. We are getting both hungry and angry."

Bolivian Tin Is To Be Purchased

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The RFC announced that an agreement has been reached with Bolivian tin producers for purchase by the RFC of the 1947 output of Bolivian tin ores and concentrates at a basic price of 76 cents per pound.

An RFC spokesman said that the formal contract for the tin purchase has not yet been signed, but that the Bolivian government will be a party to it. Price for the Bolivian tin ore last year was 67 cents a pound.

The agreement calls for the RFC purchase of the total 1947 production of the Bolivian producers who participated in the 1946 contract, less a maximum amount of about 8,000 long tons of the tin covered by the Bolivian-Argentine trade agreement.

The contract covers production from April 1, 1947, through December 31, 1947, and includes the output from January 1, through March 31, of this year which is stored in South America.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

I would center some sermons around thrift, since it means self-denial for an ideal. One of the major principles of all the great religions of the world, indeed, is self-sacrifice for an ideal, giving up something now for richer values later.

When parents begin early to budget what is to be spent on the child and work out with him an allowance plan on the budgeting principle, they are doing more for the child's growth in citizenship, character and spiritual life than they realize. BRIDE WITH DIVORCED PARENTS

"My parents are separated and both have remarried. I live with my mother and stepfather. I should like to have my own father give me away at my forthcoming wedding. Would this be correct? Whose names should be on my invitations?"

Answer: It will be perfectly proper and natural for your father to give you away. But because you have made your home with your mother she should issue in her name alone the invitations to the church. However, your mother and stepfather should, together, give you your wedding breakfast. Therefore, your stepfather's name should be included with hers in the invitations to that particular function.

Unless your parents are super-sophisticated, your father will not appear at your reception. He should call at your home, possibly waiting outside in the car and leave after the ceremony. If your stepfather is at all sensitive, he will remain away from the ceremony.

Question: I am a divorcee about to remarry. Would it be proper for me to have my sister announce my marriage?

Answer: Your sister and her husband may announce your marriage especially if she is your own age or older. But you may, if you prefer, announce your own marriage. Usually when an older woman remarries she and her husband announce it themselves thus:

Mrs. Helen Cain Curtis and Mr. John Smith have the honor to announce their marriage on Saturday the fifth of April, one thousand, nine hundred and forty-seven in the city of (fill in)

Secretary Of Commerce Lauds Coal Conversion Plans At Pittsburgh

HARRISBURG, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Secretary of Commerce Orus J. Matthews lauded plans of the Pittsburgh Consolidated Coal company to construct a $120,000,000 plant in the Steel City area to convert coal into gas, gasoline, oil and alcohol.

Matthews said: "The plan possesses the possibility of developing into the most important industrial, economic, and military news in America since the end of the war."

"It anticipates a revolutionary and successful new development in the processing of coal, America's greatest natural resource."

News Over World

"Conversion of coal into gasoline at a price permitting it on a commercial basis will be news in all world capitals. It not only will assure motor fuel for our domestic transportation for generations to come. With our vast coal reserves, it will assure a bountiful supply of high-octane gasoline for many years at a time when dwindling oil supplies, reduced by war's drain, have been a cause for concern. That is a military fact which will give our own people added confidence, and which will not escape attention beyond our borders."

"At a time when natural gas has been rationed, production of high-heat household and industrial gas in the nation's principal center of heavy industry can enable many industries in the Pittsburgh district to plan for the future with confidence and bring into the area additional gas-using industries."

"Success of this revolution in use of its product cannot fail to revive the coal industry and open large new fields of employment, both to miners and in the new processing industries."

Five Hundred Men Trapped By Ship Fire Saved

NEW YORK, March 28.—(INS)—A two-alarm fire at the Sullivan Drydock and Repair Co. in Brooklyn trapped 500 men working on two ships Thursday but they were saved by the fast work of firemen who quelled the blaze in a few minutes.

The fire was confined to the company's 1,900-foot Pier C where the Pontiac Victory and the Frank McVoy, 6,000 tons each, were docked on either side. There was little damage to the pier.

Flames shot high in the air when a welding machine exploded, setting fire to scaffolding on the vessels.

Workmen on the scaffolds scrambled to safety on the decks of the ships where there were other men at work. Because more welding machines were on the docks, a second alarm quickly followed the first.

Held as Bandit

CAMERA-SHY Frannie Williams, 21, hides from camera as she is questioned by New York police on charges of assault and battery. The girl, according to police, lured men to darkened hallways along Times Square, where with 10-inch knife and empty gun she and her 19-year-old brother robbed their victims. Girl is on parole after serving sentence as a wayward minor. (International)

Says Impostors Seek To Obtain U.S. Information

By FRANCES MUSIC
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—Rep. John Taber (R) N. Y., charged today that unidentified persons have posed as House Appropriations committee representatives to obtain government information.

Taber, committee chairman, suggested a Justice department check on the incident he said had been reported to him by various agency heads.

He asserted that "the departments should protect themselves to the extent" of calling for such action. Taber has written heads of all government departments to be on the outlook for unauthorized seekers of information.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, placed Taber's memorandum in an Army circular. The general said it was for "the information and guidance of all concerned." Taber's memo said:

Unauthorized Inquiries
"It has been brought to my attention that certain unauthorized persons have been to various agencies of the government pretending to come from the House of Representatives Appropriations committee and asking for certain information and an opportunity to go into the affairs of agencies."

"This is to advise that every person who is authorized to represent the committee will have a card with him signed by me and indicating that he is authorized to represent this committee."

Taber asserted that "anyone who presents himself without such a card should be given no consideration."

Taber declared that so far as he knows "all trace has been lost" of the individuals arousing his suspicions. He did not reveal what ground was covered by information they were seeking. Budgetary matters were included, however.

The congressman said that he knew of no information leaks, however, because the departments called him when the persons were unable to produce satisfactory credentials.

ARTHUR DOUTT IS HOME ON FURLOUGH

Arthur Douitt, Pharmacist Mate 2-C, has arrived home for a 22 days furlough with his wife, Mrs. Arthur Douitt and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Douitt, 309 South Crawford avenue.

Mr. Douitt has been in the United States Navy for four years. He has been overseas 12 months aboard the destroyer "U. S. S. Maddox", and docked at San Diego, Calif., from China. En route home he spent a week at Pearl Harbor.

On April 16 Mr. Douitt will report to duty at San Diego where he will be stationed. His wife will accompany him there.

House Passes Draft Measure

Stand-By Bill Passed By House
Thursday, Would Create Office
For Keeping Records

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—Under the provisions of a bill passed by the House Thursday afternoon and returned to the Senate, the selective service system would be abolished at midnight, March 31, and in its stead would be created an office of selective service records to keep the wartime draft organization on a stand-by basis.

This is an amended version of a similar measure passed by the Senate.

The main point of difference between the two proposed bills is the Senate provision which would keep local draft boards in existence until June 30 although without authority to induct men. This was stricken out by the House.

Summer Plans For Playgrounds. Being Formulated

City Makes Preliminary Program For Conducting Summer Play Spots

Although it is a far cry from now and dismissal of school for the year and the opening of the playgrounds, nevertheless plans for operation of the recreation centers are under way, according to director of parks Joseph D. Alexander. Playgrounds will be located as follows:

George Washington Junior High school, Laurel avenue, Mahoningtown and Rose avenue schools; rear of the fire department in Smithfield street; Cascade park, Gaston park, Dean park, Big Run, Croton avenue and Harbor street. Playgrounds will also be in operation at the Y. M. C. A. on Shenango street and St. Vitus church. The city also proposes to develop an athletic field in LaFayette street. It is expected the playgrounds will be opened immediately after the school term ends.

The City Recreation commission has also taken over the operation of a pool in Neshannock creek which formerly operated under the supervision of the Mayor's Recreation Project committee.

Incidentally, it is reported that through the operation of the Mayor's Recreation Project committee and the City Recreation commission, juvenile delinquency has been much cut down during the past year or more.

Fail To Find Trace Of Missing Aged Man

Sheriff Frank Coen and city police are still searching for William E. Cowden, age 82, of 1105 1/2 South Mercer street who disappeared at five p. m. Monday, of whom no trace has been found since he was last seen in Long avenue.

The territory adjacent to his home has been combed as has other outlying district.

Because of the inclement weather since last Monday, fears for his safety are felt.

The search has been directed out-of-town, on the possibility he went to visit a sister at Erie or another sister at Meadville.

He is described as follows:

Age 82, height, 5 feet 5 inches; weight, 160; build, medium; hair, grey, bald on top of his head; walks with a limp and uses a broom-stick for a cane; wore a half-length Navy blue type coat and gray hat.

Pennsy Official To Resume Duties

Walter Trimble, division engineer of the Erie and Ashabula sector of the Pennsylvania railroad, who was injured December 21 at Eastvale, will return to his duties at the local office about the middle of April, it was announced today at the division headquarters.

Mr. Trimble suffered a fractured skull when struck by a falling oil drum at the scene of a freight car derailment. For the past six weeks he has been convalescing in Florida.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES

Blue Triangle Club
Blue Triangle club gathered Thursday evening in the green room of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Virginia Pierson, home service director of the Pennsylvania Power company, gave a timely and practical talk on "Frozen Foods". Miss Pierson said that commercial frozen foods are 80 years old in this country. There are over 7,500 food locker plants in the United States. Frozen food takes much less time for cooking later.

The talk was illustrated with the showing of "Frozen Freshness", a talking moving picture, shown by Clay Aibel, of the Pennsylvania Power company. A comedy was also enjoyed.

Earlier in the evening a tasty dinner was served at tables attractively decorated with dish gardens, yellow tapers in crystal holders, and yellow place mats. Mrs. Aubrey Johns, Miss Mary Virginia Harris and Mrs. G. A. Homann were hostesses for the delightful evening.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. Betty Haines, president, work of the Women's Bureau in the United States Department of Labor was discussed.

The group will have a dinner Thursday evening, April 10, at the Y. W. C. A. An opening meeting will follow, when a Pittsburgh resident will speak.

Urge Return Of Control Of Atomic Power To Military

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars urged Congress on Thursday to return control of atomic energy to the military to put the secret in "safer hands."

Louis E. Starr, commander-in-chief of the VFW, told the House Un-American Activities committee that such action would "warn the challengers of democracy everywhere that we mean business."

Starr, who testified at hearings on legislation to outlaw the Communist party, declared:

"Atomic energy and the atom bomb were developed under military control. To date, atomic energy remains largely an instrument of war in the form of a super explosive."

No Safer Hands

"As such, I can think of no better or safer hands in which to reposit it, than those who led us to a great victory, our military leaders, with supervisory control exercised through the President and the Congress."

Earlier, the committee had been promised additional funds and personnel to intensify its investigation of Communist activities in the United States.

In calling for repeal of the existing atomic energy control act, Starr said:

"To those who may view the military with suspicion and distrust, let me say that I have no fear for our nation, my family and myself, that men like Patterson, Forrestal, Eisenhower, Nimitz, MacArthur, Vandegrift and Spaatz, would ever abuse the confidence and trust imposed in them by our nation."

Plan To Launch All-Out War On Game Predators

REYNOLDSVILLE, Pa., Mar. 28.

(INS)—A new war against owls, weasels, foxes, semi-wild house cats and other destroyers of game will be launched in the Pine Creek hunting area near Reynoldsville April 1.

The Pine Creek Sportsman's Association has started the drive, and is offering rifles as prizes to sportsmen killing the most of these pests that do more to decimate the game population of the area.

The contest was a part of a broad program of the organization to better hunting conditions in the area. The club is erecting rearing pens at Emersville, where it will rear 300 pheasants this summer, and turn them loose in time for the pheasant season next fall.

Five dozen rabbits already have been stocked in the area by the club, and another five dozen will be freed on the land soon.

NEW PROGRAM TO AID MOTORISTS ON LATIN TOURS

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 28.—(INS)—

The Keystone Automobile Club has announced a new program to facilitate the travel of Americans through Central and South America.

The United States government has authorized the American touring alliance, of which Keystone is a member, and the American Automobile Association to issue certain privileges to American motorists in Brazil, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru and the Dominican Republic.

The privileges include special international automobile certificates, driving licenses and car tags, Keystone said.

ROBS THEATRE

SCOTSDALE, Pa., Mar. 28.—(INS)—State and local police today sought a robber who knocked down a boy and a woman in the office of a Scottdale theatre and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash.

Dorothea Weaver, cashier of the theatre, said she and Angelo Tom-more took the money into the office last night while the show was still in progress.

As she prepared to open the safe, the man came from behind the safe, struck her and Tommore, grabbed the money and fled. Miss Weaver said there was about $200 missing.

Uniform System Of Assessing Of Local Taxes Urged

By SUZANNE FLICK (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 28.—The State Chamber of Commerce today recommended greater decentralization of school financing to effect economy in education and suggested immediate increases in teachers' salaries on a temporary basis.

A uniform system of local property assessments to better measure local "tax ability" was urged to assure fair shares of state aid.

Urges Consolidation
Consolidation of some of the 3000 one-room schools and rural school districts would reduce transportation costs and eliminate some overstaffing of teachers, the chamber said, while a more flexible tenure law would cut costs by permitting removal of surplus instructors.

A report issued by the chamber's educational committee pointed out salary boosts mean "further dependence upon state subsidies resulting from increased school district financial distress."

"Economic cyclical changes must be recognized so as to differentiate between temporary needs and permanent requirements."

One hundred dollar increases in the $2000 maximum subsidies would cost the state $4,500,000 a year, the report stated. An identical boost in the $600 minimum rate would add an additional $1,000,000, it added. Teachers have sought $300 increases in the minimum and ultimate $1000 hikes in maximum subsidies, estimated to increase the total cost approximately $75,000,000 a year.

Against Excessive Subsidies
"Before any changes in state subsidies are recommended, their cost impact upon state resources, possible existing inequities, districts' self-supporting capacities and overall economic conditions should be understood and evaluated," the report asserted.

Excessive subsidization would "discourage self-help and local autonomy" and shift the resulting tax burden from "beneficiaries to non-beneficiaries," according to the report.

"Before further burdening the state, the local district's capacity to pay its own way should be given careful consideration," it added.

Revised property assessments should be "an integral part of the new subsidy formula," the report said.

"If not uniformly made, assessments operate to either increase unduly state government subsidy costs or to decrease unfairly local district subsidy receipts," it added. A need for uniform mandated salary levels was questioned in view of cost of living differentials throughout the state.

Objections were raised to legislation proposing subsidy rates paid during the 1945-46 school year be continued throughout the 1947-48 biennium.

The legislature ought to "give consideration to the necessity and feasibility of providing advance, partial reimbursement to local districts in cases where state-imposed costs cannot be met immediately from available local revenues," the report claimed.

"It is suggested that state subsidy increases should be accompanied by a proportionate increase in the measurement of local tax effort."

The correspondence now is held in the Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial library in Hyde Park and can be made available "only upon request" of Mr. Truman.

Fails To Locate Perfect Steak

Seeker Estimates He Has Spent Five Years And $8,000 During Hunt

By DOROTHY DOAN (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 28.—Maurice C. Dreicer figures roughly he's spent five years and eight thousand dollars looking for—the "perfect" steak!

Despite a recent poll that steak is the favorite American dish, the radio consultant and lecturer despairs of satisfying his penchant for a perfectly prepared steak in the United States and thinks he may accept invitations from Sweden and Elre.

Dreicer, an unemotional young man with a center part and impeccable grooming, carries with him at all times a silver butter knife, a magnifying glass and a pair of immaculate white gloves.

Gloves For Waiter
The gloves are for the waiter—"the serving plate must be hot"—the butter knife to cut the steak—"it must be that tender"—the spy glass to examine the grain of the meat.

Dreicer estimates in five years he's eaten some 400 steaks.

He thought he was on the verge of gastronomic ecstasy twice—once in Philadelphia, once in Atlantic City.

In Atlantic City, the waiter—saw gloves and refused to wear Dreicer's. In Philadelphia the magnifying glass shattered his delicately balanced hope.

Texas? Dreicer, also an authority on the human voice, says in carefully enunciated but frigid words: "The meat was not sufficiently aged!"

For Perfect Steak
Here are Dreicer's inviolable laws for the perfect steak:

"Prime and choice meat, properly aged and hung, removed from the refrigerator at least three hours in advance. It must be cooked over wood or charcoal fire of intense heat, a minute and a half on each side, then raised above the fire precisely five inches to cook slowly."

"Steak should be eaten alone, from a wooden or metal plate (china never!) and should be not less than two pounds in size. Strong condiments, olive oil and garlic— heaven forbid—obscure the natural flavor."

If you're thinking of inviting Dreicer to dinner, don't be surprised if he offers to mimic Winston Churchill, debate both sides of any subject you name, read to you at the rate of 300 words a minute, or tell you what you're thinking. He's that versatile!

Earle Declares
Russia Will Soon Have Atom Bomb

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—(INS)—George Earle, former governor of Pennsylvania, declared today that because the Russians soon will have the atomic bomb the chances are better than even that 90 per cent of the American people will be dead five years from now.

Earle, who served as the late President Roosevelt's undercover representative in Turkey in 1943, made his sensational prediction before the House un-American activities committee.

CAT, POLICE MASCOT
Police have had dogs for mascots but today is the first time they adopted a cat as a mascot. It followed Patrolman Jack James to headquarters where it was provided with a bed and apparently enjoys its new surroundings.

PAVE PARK ENTRANCE
One of the early spring jobs which the city will cause to be put through is the paving of the lower entrance and roadway to the bridge in Cascade Park. Blacktop material will be used.

There are about as many epileptics in this country as there are diabetics or persons with tuberculosis.

Seek Funds For Flood Control

PITTSBURGH, March 28.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce today launched a broad campaign for an appropriation of $5-212,000 to continue work on the Conemaugh flood control dam in Pennsylvania during the next fiscal year.

Present funds for work on the dam will be exhausted June 30, and the new appropriation is necessary. Chamber officials said in a special meeting, if the project is to be completed on time.

Already more than seven millions has been expended on the $33,730,000 project, and even should it be abandoned another three million would have to be expended in payments for land condemnations, railroad relocations and other work already begun.

The Chamber planned to carry its fight for continuance of the project, which will greatly aid in controlling floods all the way down the Ohio river, to the doors of the appropriations committee in Congress. H. N. Burchfield of the Chamber's flood control committee urged citizens in states along the Ohio river to aid in the campaign through letters to congressmen and senators.

U. S. Army engineers estimate that the dam would lower any flood crest, such as those in the 1936 and 1937 disasters, by more than five feet.

FOX HOLE RELIGION

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—Eight Portland pastors, rabbis and bishops said they do not believe much of the so-called "foxhole religion" has followed American veterans back home. All agreed peace-time religion will have to be "renewed" to keep up the spiritual fervor apparent on both the battlefield and home front.

Shipbuilding In Postwar Stride In Great Britain

Yards Turning Out Ship A Day To Repair Ravages Of U-Boats During War

LONDON.—(INS)—Shipbuilding is one industry that has hit its postwar stride in Britain. For the past few months shipyards in this country have been turning out a ship a day in a determined drive to repair the ravages of U-boat warfare.

While other industries may have faltered, shipbuilding is going all out. Throughout the world there are 3,250,000 tons of merchant shipping under construction. British shipyards are building 1,763,000 tons.

Norway, one of the world's greatest maritime nations, has ordered 79 ships from Britain. From the Argentine have come orders for several ships, including three 18-knot liners of 8,700 tons each and two other refrigerator ships.

British yards are turning out cargo ships, fish trawlers and passenger ships for Belgium, Holland, France and Portugal, Brazil and Chile have ordered coastwise traders. Adding to the pressure on the yards are 3,251,000 tons of British shipping undergoing or awaiting reconstruction.

The giant Queen Mary, probably the world's most popular ship, is now at Southampton where her beautiful panelling is being restored and her engines repaired and renewed.

Deny Funds For Salaries Of Three Ex-U. S. Employees

WASHINGTON, March 28.—(INS)—The House appropriations committee today ignored a decision of the U. S. Supreme court and denied funds for the salaries of three former government employees deemed by Congress to have been subversive.

The Supreme court ruled last year that Congress acted illegally in cutting off the salaries. On the basis of the court's decision, the U. S. court of claims, in which suit was originally filed, authorized judgments for payments of the salaries.

The three men involved are Robert Morse Lovett, former executive assistant to the governor of the Virgin Islands, Goodwin B. Watson and William E. Dood, Jr., employees of the Federal communications commission.

COAL OUTPUT DECREASES
WASHINGTON, March 28.—(INS)—Bituminous coal production in the nation totaled 12,880,000 net tons for the week ending March 22, the National Coal association reported today. It is a decrease of 270,000 tons over the previous week. The bureau reported this for this year 1,652,000 tons ahead of last year.

Accused Woman Vague In Defense At Murder Trial

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 28.—(INS)—A 28-year-old divorcee accused of the strangulation-death of Paul Digenovario, 46, told a jury today the slain man beat and kicked her in a hotel room they allegedly shared.

The defendant, Carolyn Kanluk, an ex-WAC, admitted on the witness stand that she went to a West Philadelphia hotel with Digenovario, father of five children. Digenovario was found strangled by a necktie in the hotel room after an alleged "drinking spree" with Mrs. Kanluk.

She told the jury that she "vaguely remembered" grabbing Digenovario's necktie during a struggle. "At one time," the defendant said, "I had hold of it, but it's all kind of vague."

Under questioning by Assistant District Attorney Raymond A. Spieser she said the next thing she remembered was "standing at his feet looking down at him."

Mrs. Kanluk told the jury that when she left the hotel room Digenovario was lying on his back with his face discolored and his tongue protruding.

She said she wondered "who it was lying there."

The defendant told the jury she suffers memory lapses after drinking a certain amount of whiskey.

Further Probe Of Communists To Receive Support

By WILLIAM UMSTEAD

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—The House Un-American Activities Committee was promised additional funds and personnel to intensify its probe of Communist activities in the United States.

Rep. Thomas (R) N. J., committee chairman, revealed that House Republican leadership has endorsed legislation to give the committee an additional $30,000 and to increase its investigation staff.

Thomas' disclosure followed testimony by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that the Communist party seeks to overthrow the U. S. government by "bloody revolution."

Only By Revolution

In giving the committee a detailed report on Communist activities in this country, Hoover declared: "The Communist, once he is fully trained and indoctrinated, realizes that he can create his order in the United States only by bloody revolution."

The FBI chief declared that the Communist party is a fifth column "seeking to weaken America" and is "far better organized than were the Nazis in occupied countries prior to their capitulation."

He said that in the United States there is one Communist for every 1,814 persons and he listed the party's enrolled membership in the nation.

Hoover told the committee that "There is no doubt as to where a real Communist's loyalty rests," adding:

"Their allegiance is to Russia, not the United States."

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Jacqueline White, one of filmland's new native daughters, today spoke up for the home town talent. She thinks Hollywood should give them a better break.

She said: "As a general rule, whenever the movies are looking for someone they look almost every place except at home."

"There is something about distance which fascinates the motion picture mind."

Jacqueline and two of her friends are among the notable exceptions. She was playing in a U. C. L. A. production of "Ab Wildernes" when she was spotted by talent executive Bill Grady and signed to an M-G-M contract. Two of her friends, Joyce Matthews and Jean Sullivan, also were discovered at U. C. L. A. Joyce became famous as "Janie" at Warners and Jean played in one picture with Errol Flynn before she decided she'd prefer a dancing career in New York City.

Jacqueline commented: "They always seem so terribly surprised when they find someone close by."

Your reporter wanted to know if Jacqueline thought the movies could find everyone they need right at home.

"I certainly do," she replied with alacrity.

She added: "A lot of young people from here go to New York in the hope of getting on the stage and being discovered there by the movies. They figure they have a better chance of ultimate success that way than by remaining right in Hollywood."

She cited Barbara Bel Geddes, who came from a Broadway hit, "Deeper Than Roots," to star in her first movie.

"Barbara was out here and made tests before she made a hit on the stage," Jacqueline said, "but nobody thought much of her."

Jacqueline is getting her big break in "Counterpoint," just starting at RKO.

She's just 23 now, but she was only in the third grade when she made her first attempt at dramatics.

"I always wanted to be an actress," said one home-town girl who's made good.

The temperature was officially 90, but 105 on the set, when they were shooting a very dramatic scene for the detective story, "Crossfire."

Actor Sam Levine, supposed to be dead from a bullet wound, is lying on the floor under the blazing arcs. Robert Young, playing the detective, and another actor, portraying a doctor, are leaning over him.

After several rehearsals, they are about to shoot the scene, when sharp-eyed Eddie Dymtryk, the director, interrupted:

"Get the make-up man to fix Sam," he said, "you can't have a perspiring corpse."

Sabbath School Leaders Convene

Monthly Meeting Of Executive Committee Of County Association Held Thursday

Regular monthly executive committee meeting of the Lawrence County Sabbath School association, was held last night at the office of the First Baptist church.

It was stated that Dr. Ivan M. Gould, general secretary of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association, would be in the city May 5 to speak before the Ministerial association. It is planned to have an Administrative Conference dinner that evening, for county and district officers, pastors and Sunday school superintendents.

It was stated that Miss A. Mylan Roberts, the Children's Division superintendent of the State association, would be the staff representative at the annual County convention to be held in New Castle, Thursday, June 12.

It was decided to postpone the annual Leadership Training school from spring until fall, on account of other activities that are scheduled for the coming month.

Plans were considered for allotting one or more delegates from each district to attend the International Sabbath School convention to be held at Des Moines, Iowa, July 23 to 27. The State association has allotted 10 delegates for Lawrence county. A. A. Webb suggested that perhaps railroad men and other families who have passes, might attend.

Mrs. H. P. Barber, Young Peoples superintendent, reported that Wilmington district was planning an Easter Sunrise service, and that these would also be held in Slippery Rock and Ellwood districts. Mrs. D. W. Nesbit reported that good response was received from the securing of names protesting against liquor advertising over radio.

Meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. O. W. Hurst.

Amendments To Truman's Plan For Aid To Greece

Senator Lodge Would Compel "Well-To-Do" Greeks To Help Pay Bill

WASHINGTON, March 28.—(INS)—Sen. Lodge (R) Mass., on Thursday introduced restrictive amendment to President Truman's Greco-Turkish aid bill which would compel the two countries to tap the resources of their own "well-to-do" citizens and block diversion of U. S. funds to other nations.

One of Lodge's three amendments provides for the appointment of an administrator of Greek and Turkish aid who would be subject to senate confirmation.

Major Revisions

The two major revisions in the authorization bill now pending before house and senate committees would require both Greece and Turkey to agree:

1. Not to use any of the American funds for payments of principal or interest of any loan they may have received from "any other foreign government."

2. To make a "bonafide effort" to set up a taxation program "to support its own national reconstruction with particular emphasis on the principle of ability to pay."

Lodge explained:

"We must not impose these burdens on the people of moderate means in the United States without seeing to it that the well-to-do people, if any, in these foreign countries also do their share."

The lodge tax proposal would require that such a taxation program be established within a specific period of days, not yet specified.

Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson indicated earlier that he was in "hearty accord" with the objective of a bar to diversion of American funds to repayment of other foreign loans.

Undersecretary of State Will Clayton, in charge of economic affairs, told the senate foreign relations committee that it was the government's intention to stipulate in written agreements that Greece and Turkey put their tax structures in proper order.

Their expressions indicated that the administration would not object to the Lodge revisions.

Lodge is a member of the senate committee. His amendments were introduced as the committee recessed public hearings after a list of "opposition" witnesses urged handling of the program through the United Nations.

Discuss Greek Relief At Dinner

The problem of feeding hungry Greece is undoubtedly the subject under discussion as Archbishop Athenagoras (left), of the Greek Orthodox church in America, and Herbert Hoover, who recently studied food conditions in Europe, meet at a New York dinner celebrating the 126th birthday of Greek independence.

LAVISH ATTENTION ON ALERT PET THAT PROTECTED CHILD

KANE, Pa., Mar. 28.—(INS)—Sophia, big Irish setter owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Forst of Kane, is getting extra rations of both food and attention these days.

Yesterday Forst's three-year-old daughter, Linda, started across an icy street as a truck approached. The truck driver stopped, with the little girl standing in front of the truck, apparently bewildered.

Just then Sophia dashed into the street, grabbed Linda by the coat and dragged her to the sidewalk. The rescue wasn't necessary, but Mr. and Mrs. Forst are none the less grateful, anyway.

Graders Assisting In Ice Removal On County Highways

Road graders have been called into action by the county highway department to assist in ice removal on many of the secondary roads of the district, it was stated by Alfred Martin, County Department of Highways superintendent, this morning.

"A number of tight places exist on the roads," stated Mr. Martin, "where the ordinary snow plows are ineffective and the graders are taking over at these points ridding the road blocks. With the assistance of the strong sunshine today most of the roads should be open. The department is doing everything in its power to free every district that may be blocked by the impassable roads."

The "Snow-Go" machine which was scheduled to arrive in the district late yesterday afternoon was tied up in Butler according to Mr. Martin, and did not get in Lawrence County at all. With the use of the larger snow plows of the department, the Perry Highway, Thursday's trouble spot on the county highway system, was opened and the necessity for the power machine was not warranted.

Cinderling crews were taking care of icy spots on the main roads which were found in scattered areas.

The first U. S. census, taken in 1790, showed Philadelphia as the largest city with 42,444 population. New York was second with 33,131, and Boston third with 18,103.

Ten-Year Study Of U. S. Press Urged By Group

Educators, Scholars Recommend Annual Report On Activities Of Press

NEW YORK, Mar. 28.—(INS)—A ten-year commission to study and report annually on the activities of the press in the United States was recommended Thursday by a group of noted educators and scholars who warned that freedom of the press is in danger.

The group, which concluded a three-year study of mass communications in the United States, were members of a "commission on freedom of the press."

Their report "a free and responsible press" warns that newspapers, radio, magazines and movies may face government control if they do not act "from within" to correct "abuses" of their freedom.

The commission says it is firmly against such controls because "free expression is unique among liberties; it promotes and protects all the rest."

The 13-man commission is headed by Robert M. Hutchins, chancellor of the University of Chicago. It acknowledges that the U. S. press is, all things considered, the best in the world, adding:

Mildest Of All
"Whatever its shortcomings, the American press is less venal and less subservient to political and economic pressure than that of many other countries."

"The leading organs of the American press have achieved a standard of excellence unsurpassed anywhere in the world. It is necessary to keep these general comments in mind in order to see the criticisms which follow in proper perspective."

The commission says it does not favor government action to cure any of the ills of the press but looks "principally to the press and the people."

The study by the commission was financed by Time, Inc., as the result of conversations between Henry R. Luce, editor of Time, Life and Fortune, and Dr. Hutchins, the educators revealed at a news conference.

Time contributed $200,000 and Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., $15,000, but neither exercised any control over the study.

They were accompanied by Dr. Blanche Carrier, head of the psychology department.

THREE-LEGGED CAT PARTICULAR ABOUT HIS FUTURE HOME

PITTSBURGH.—(INS)—Crip, a three-legged green-eyed tomcat is looking for a new home—but not just any home.

Crip, a very particular feline despite his handicap, wants a home with adults—no children, dogs or other cats.

The tiger-striped tom, now being cared for by the Animal War Relief society in Pittsburgh, dislikes children, instinctively hates dogs and has a violent aversion to other cats.

The society recommends him for adult company, however. They said he loves older people, is healthy and has a startling appetite.

They add that people always comment on what "a nice cat" Crip is but then choose a kitten without the handicap with which Crip was born.

Thousands Honor Pitcairn Physician

PITCAIRN, Pa., Mar. 28.—(INS)—Thousands of Pitcairn residents, brought into the world by Dr. J. B. Rush, took time out Thursday to honor the silver-haired physician on his 76th birthday and 50th anniversary as a doctor.

Dr. Rush, the oldest practicing physician in Pitcairn, had delivered more than 3,000 babies since he started practice in March, 1897.

Dr. Rush said he "got a big kick" from the reception his "babies" arranged in his honor. He said:

"Some of my babies are now grandmothers and grandfathers."

RADIO DIVISION OF WESTINGHOUSE LEADS IN SAFETY

SUNBURY, Pa., Mar. 28.—(INS)—The home radio division, with a perfect safety record of no lost-time accidents during 1946, led all other plants of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation in safe operations.

The 1,100 employees at Sunbury worked 1403,050 hours without an accident. The Bloomfield, N. J., plant of the lamp division placed second among the company's 21 major manufacturing plants and 13 subsidiaries. Bloomfield employees worked 7,457,710 man-hours with five accidents.

A mild coffee—Coffea arabica—is grown and exported by Colombia, South America. The plant is an evergreen, with sharp-pointed, oval-shaped leaves four to six inches long, dark green on the upper surface and lighter green underneath. They are shining and waxlike, very much resembling the common laurel, although not so thick or dry.

Would Provide For Teacher Certificates

HARRISBURG, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Temporary teaching certificates could be issued by the superintendent of public instruction on a permanent basis under legislation pending in the house.

The certificates would be good for only a year under the measure co-sponsored by Republican Reps. D.

Raymond Sollenberger, Blair, and W. Stuart Helm, Armstrong.

The state now may issue "emergency wartime" certificates to instructors not holding regular permits. The expiration date will be determined by the justice department.

Another measure sponsored by Helm would place correspondence, business, barber, beauty culture and flight schools under regulations governing trade school.

Swedish Bombsight May Be Best Ever Invented

By NED NORDNESS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
STOCKHOLM, Mar. 28. — The Swedish air force has a new automatic "robot" bombsight which is believed to be the most advanced and accurate bombsight in the world.
Many phases of the bombsight have not been revealed. The scientists and engineers of the Swedish Aircraft Company, who designed the sight, have released only meager information since test experiments in northern Lapland proved successful.
What they have allowed to be put before the public, however, indicates a definite advance in this field.
The amazing feature of the "robot" bombsight is that it determines when the bomb should be loosed on the target, thus permitting the pilot to devote full time to his flying.
Only Pushes Button
The pilot need only guide his craft toward the objective, push a release button to set the "robot" in motion, and the bombsight does the rest.

After pushing the button the pilot then dives toward his objective. The "robot" bombsight is now functioning, and as the plane starts out of its dive, and is in perfect position, the sighting unit lets loose with the bombs.
Experiments were conducted with light bombers, fighter bombers and jet planes carrying rockets. The bombs used in the experiment weighed 100 to 1,000 pounds, and in all instances, the experiments said the bombsight proved amazingly successful.
Whether this bombsight can be used in heavy bombing is not yet disclosed. From preliminary reports such a probability is not likely as the Swedish Aircraft company statement said the bombsight releases the bomb or rockets as a plane comes out of its dive. A heavy bomber, of course, does not attack in the same manner.

To Be Used in Tests
The bombsight is to be used in experimental attacks on tanks, ships and front line objectives.
The inventor of the robot bombsight is Engineer Erik Wilkenson, who, along with other officials of Swedish Aircraft company and air force officers, claims the new bombsight to be the best and advanced in use today.
Wilkenson said it is not likely that the government will permit in the near future any further details as to construction and mechanics of the new bombsight. However, Sweden is closely cooperating with Great Britain and the United States on latest techniques in aviation and it is not unlikely but that these two countries will in time be told the secret of the robot bombsight, if indeed, they have not already.
The Swedish Aircraft company is Sweden's largest producer of aircraft, and has a large underground factory for production in case hostilities which is now a matter of secrecy. It is next to impossible to gain permission for inspection of the huge plant.

Old Fire Forcing Tenants To Vacate

Smouldering Coal Fires In Abandoned Mines Forcing Out Pittsburgh Residents
PITTSBURGH, Mar. 28. — (INS) — Seventy homes in North Versailles are threatened by fire that started in abandoned coal mines 30 years ago. One home already has been razed. Occupants of another are being forced to move because of the fumes and smoke that seep through the ground.
Unless some means can be found to extinguish the underground fires, all 70 homes will be vacated.
Fortunately, it may take some time before the slowly-moving underground flames force more evacuations. It was almost two years from the time the fumes first were noticed that Mrs. Frank Priebanic was forced to leave her six-room home. But eventually the basement floor became so hot it burned her feet.
"I had lived in the house 18 years," she said. "Two years ago we began to notice a funny smell. It was gas from the burning mine. It finally got so bad smoke was coming in my basement, and even into my kitchen. Inspectors came and said we'd have to tear the place down. My family was getting sick from the fumes."

Whether flooding would be possible or feasible is questionable. But, until some means is found to quench the flames, the smoke which rises in patches from the hilly land continues to be a threat.
The island of Sicily was once called the "granary of Europe."

In Spain tiles were much used with intaglio patterns filled in with colored glazes in the 16th and 17th centuries. Very for floor use, they were very decorative when used as linings of walls.

"The Hundred Days" was the period between the arrival of Napoleon in Paris, March 20, 1815, after his escape from Elba, and his departure on June 29, the same year, after his second abdication.

'Tariffs' Topic For Women Voters

League Of Women Voters Meets
Thursday Afternoon In Y.W.C.A.

"Tariffs and Trade Agreements" was the subject on which Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine spoke to the New Castle League of Women Voters and the Legislative department of Woman's club at a meeting in the rose room of the Y.W.C.A. Thursday afternoon. The decision for the stand that this country will take in the matter of tariffs lies in the hands of Congress, she pointed out, and if foreign trade is to be stimulated in the interests of world harmony and stabilization, we must be guided by a positive trade stimulating policy.

She called the attention of the group to the conference on trade and tariff agreements that is scheduled to take place in Geneva next month.

Mrs. Helen Glenn Tyson, of the Public Charities Association, who arrived in New Castle Wednesday to begin a survey of child welfare in Lawrence county at the request of the county commissioners was introduced by Mrs. Lyle Hughes, who presided. Mrs. Tyson stated that recommendations and findings will be reviewed with the local study committee as the survey progresses. She met with the committee at a luncheon in the Castleton today.

Mrs. Alice McKillop reported on local legislative developments since the last meeting.

It was announced that a film "Economics for Everybody" has been procured by the league and will be made available to other groups.

Next meeting will be Thursday, April 24.

Sir Stafford added that the proposal will be revised in a few years' time.

IN THE OPEN

We hiked a few miles one recent afternoon, rambling along leisurely over old familiar pathways. The Vernal Equinox had come and gone and we took to the wayside trails to see what changes, if any, the official advent of spring had made in the appearance of the countryside. Apparently no one had notified the weather that spring is here, for there was brisk snow during the night.

The next morning dawned gray and cold. The only evidence of the changing season was the extra portion of daylight, which will now overbalance the hours of darkness until the latter part of next September. The roadways were rimmed with thin ice and the general outlook was for more of the same dreary winter weather which has long since worn out its welcome.

Sporadic Sunlight
By noon there was an occasional break in the overcast and the early afternoon saw sporadic sunlight between patches of scudding cloud-mass. We dressed for raw weather and drove out to the reservoirs which impound the water supply for a neighboring city. I was hoping for a glimpse of some waterfowl, or perhaps a migrating shorebird or two, but we were disappointed to find both dams still tightly ice-locked, with only a narrow channel of open water edging the shore line.

It is surprising how easily the imagination plays tricks on the casual observer, particularly when the light is bad. Along the far side of one of the dams, among other debris, was one formation of rubbish which looked for all the world like the snaky head and shoulders of a loon. We watched this object for some time from the car and were certain we could see that head moving about. I walked up the roadway some distance to get a walking stick from the straight suckers another angle and still could not be certain that it was not a bird.

Finally we climbed the fence and plunged through the weeds to the water's edge. From there I skidded a few stones out over the roiling ice toward the "mirage", which refused to budge, and turned out to be a stub pointing out of the water at an angle suggesting one of the diving birds.

During the forenoon I had seen one of the smaller hawks and there were the usual winter birds about in the thickets, but the afternoon provided no new arrivals from the southland. We parked the car and hiked back along the edge of the second reservoir. The going was rather heavy as the frost was coming out of the ground. Here and there a tiny ridge across the roadway indicated where a mole had bored his way through.

Backtracked Muddy Trail
We backtracked along this muddy trail to the car and set out across country to the hidden valley where the brook has carved a noisy pathway across the flat rocks which pave the valley floor. Following this brook through the lower gorge we soon emerged into a hinterland of open woodland. The brook here temporarily loses its identity in a small swale, which was dotted with the purple heads of the skunk cabbage, and the dry fruiting stalks of the sensitive fern.

We broke off one of the cabbage heads and examined the curious spadis through a pocket lens. The flower was in full "bloom", shedding a copious pollen for the benefit of whatever insects might pass that way. We noted one small creature moving about in that odoriferous cell. It turned out to be a tiny black spider, scuttling about there in the darkness, his whole carcass literally plastered with yellow pollen. I wonder if that spider knows about life-buoy soap?

Christmas fern is a common denizen of this hidden valley, and we found some green fruiting fronds of the marginal shield fern. We stopped along the way to cut a walking stick from the straight suckers growing out where an aspen tree had been felled. It is easy to understand why the beaver is partial to the soft and succulent aspen. The pocket knife finds little resistance in this wood.

We worked our way back through the gorge to the car past some butternut trees which will bear watching, and drove away through the late afternoon. As we neared our starting point we noted a red kite high overhead, dancing in the fresh March breeze. Two small boys were watching while a not so small grownup was manipulating the cord and having all the fun. A moment or so later we turned the car in the rear yard of a nearby home. There on the ground was a kite, with fancy red tail, and string pointing skyward through the trees. The red kite still floated high above. I retrieved as much of the string as possible and salvaged the abandoned kite. Now tomorrow, if the wind is right and I can find enough string, there will be a strange bird flying over our home valley.

New Statistics In Court Cases

Couple Of New Records Are Developed In Testimony In Recent Term

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

One can collect a lot of statistics in a court room, or around the offices of the court house. Some of them are informative, some interesting and some about as handy as a cocktail shaker at a meeting of deacons.

In court room number one a couple of new ones were added to a long list this week. Both concerned high voltage drinkers which is by way of saying that the gentlemen in question have capacities.

In the first case the defendant, a husband, was charged with abusing his wife and failing to provide for her properly. She said he drank too much. He denied the allegation but admitted after a bit of questioning that he did a spot of drinking occasionally and on some days he put away two fifths of liquor. Two fifths is 50 ounces and if the liquor was 86 proof, he would have consumed about 21½ ounces of pure alcohol. Which is a fair coudry record for drinking.

Wednesday a gentleman was upon a surety of the peace charge and his favorite bartender testified. The B.T. said he often served the gentleman 15 doubleheaders in a day's time which he chased with beer. This is known as a "puddler and a helper" but apparently the gentleman was trying to get together a crew of puddlers.

Paraguay Denies Seeking Mediation To Settle Revolt

ASUNCION, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The Paraguayan foreign ministry denied today that it had asked the governments of other South American countries to mediate for settlement of the revolution in Paraguay.

The foreign ministry statement came on the heels of a host of rumors that President Higinio Morinigo, unable to suppress the rebellion, was ready to resign.

Meanwhile Loyalist troops were reported to have routed 1,500 rebels in a sharp engagement near Rosario Harbor, about 50 miles north of the capital city of Asuncion.

Government sources claimed 200 prisoners.

The rebel radio in Concepcion City attacked the government claims, saying that a revolutionary column under Colonel Ramon had not been defeated in his march on Asuncion.

The insurgents announced that their planes bombarded Rosario Harbor in support of Ramon's advance.

Report Will Link U. S. Communist Party With Soviet

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The House un-American activities committee plans to make public Saturday a report linking the Communist party in the United States with Moscow.

Chairman Thomas (R) N. J. disclosed that the report, entitled "The Communist Party in America Is an Agency of a Foreign Government,"

Prepared by the committee's investigative staff, the report is based largely on the testimony of scores of witnesses, including former Communists who appeared before the House group.

Decorator Strike Appears Imminent

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Possibility of a strike of 1400 AFL Painters, Paperhangers and Decorators was seen today as negotiations for a new contract appeared stymied.

Secretary-Treasurer F. J. Schaefer of AFL Painters district council No. 1 said contract negotiations with employers have made little progress in the past few weeks. Another meeting is scheduled for tomorrow, and if no agreement is reached then a strike vote probably will be taken Sunday, Schaefer said.

P. A. Freyvogel, chairman of the employers' scale committee, said the union "made a lot of demands," including one for a raise from $1.85 to $2.10 an hour. He said contractors offered $1.90.

Twin Assault On Threatened Phone Strike

By PHILIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—A twin assault on the threatened national telephone strike gathered momentum today in the legislature and executive branches of the government.

On Capitol Hill, House labor committee members prepared to draft emergency legislation to enable President Truman to block the phone walkout by the same method used against John L. Lewis.

From the Labor department, orders went out for a resumption of local bargaining conferences between telephone management and labor looking toward a wage settlement to avert the showdown.

Shape Strike Plans
And in a Washington hotel, the 49-member policy committee of the National Federation of Telephone Workers shaped plans for the April 7 strike of 287,000 workers if the union's demands for a $12 a week pay boost is not met.

Joseph A. Beirne, NFW president, had no immediate comment on congressional preparations to combat what may be the nation's first major industrial strike of 1947.

Rep. Fred Hartley (R) N. J., chairman of the House Labor committee, announced that the group will meet Monday to draft an amendment to the Norris-LaGuardia act to enable President Truman to obtain a court injunction against a telephone walkout without seizure. The measure may be brought to the House floor for action late Monday or Tuesday.

Hartley explained that it would empower Mr. Truman to determine that a telephone strike would endanger public welfare and authorize the attorney general to obtain the restraining order from a federal court.

Girl's Sweetheart Is Indicted In Yacht Case Deaths

Case Against Daughter Of Blast Victims Is Transferred To Juvenile Court

SANTA ANA, Calif., Mar. 28.—(INS)—A prosecution spokesman asserted today the state has a witness who will testify that Mrs. Beulah Overell threatened to disinherit her daughter, Louise, 17, if the girl married before completing college.

The prosecution's claim followed disclosure that the Orange county grand jury indicted George (Bud) Gollum, Miss Overell's sweetheart, for the murder of the girl's parents chiefly on testimony that blood stains were found on his clothing.

The parents were found dead after an explosion wrecked their yacht in Newport Beach harbor.

The prosecution also additionally claimed to have a second witness who will testify that mother and daughter quarreled violently on March 14, the day before the blast. Names of the witnesses were withheld.

These developments followed the appearance of Miss Overell and Gollum, 21, in court for arraignment on the murder indictments. Superior Judge Franklin West, however, granted a defense motion to suspend proceedings against Miss Overell and transfer her case to juvenile court. A hearing was set for next Thursday, when it will be finally decided whether the girl will remain under juvenile court jurisdiction or be tried as an adult.

The court next granted a second defense motion to postpone Gollum's arraignment until April 4.

Big Inch Gas To Be Secured By Peoples Gas Co.

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The Peoples Natural Gas company, of Pittsburgh, today announced it has signed contracts to purchase 125 million cubic feet of gas daily from the Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., buyer of the big and little inch pipe lines.

Peoples Natural Gas said one contract covers the purchase of gas during an interim lease period granted the Texas company by the War Assets Administration.

The other contract covers a period of 20 years beginning when Texas Eastern is given title to the lines. Texas Eastern expects to take possession of the lines May 1, 1947, under its interim lease and full title is expected to be secured by November 25, 1947, a spokesman said.

Both contracts call for deliveries to be made to Peoples and to the New York State Natural Gas Corp., Greene county, Pa., and to the East Ohio Gas company, Munroe county, O. The three companies are subsidiaries of Consolidated Natural Gas company.

Winecoff Hotel Fire Used As Example For Urging New Safeties

Recommendations designed to minimize loss of life in hotel fires were made public today by the executive committee of the Building Officials Conference of America, Inc., following review of findings and conclusions of the conference's committee on inquiries into disasters based on an investigation of the Winecoff hotel fire in Atlanta in December.

The conference recommended, among other things, the elimination or sealing of transoms in hotel guest rooms; the protection of all floors by supervised watchmen's services, in lieu of adequate fire protection equipment provided with automatic transmission of alarm to the fire department; and the installation of fire vent fires and ducts to conduct superheated air and gases to a point of dissipation outside buildings.

The report reveals in detail the progress of the Atlanta fire from the third floor through the halls and up the open stairwell to the twelfth floor where the blaze was subdued. "The enclosed corridors with the open stair fire of restricted volume could not have been improved upon as a means of fire communication from floor to floor," the report states.

Added To Flames
The part played in the holocaust by the inflammable materials of interior finish are described in the report. Ignition of these materials was aided, the report states, by the draft through open transoms from rooms in which exterior windows had also been opened by the occupants to secure relief.

"The fire was most severe from the sixth to the twelfth floors and practically all combustible material was consumed on those floors," the report states. "Little or no damage occurred except from heat and smoke on the fifth and sixth floors. However, the smoke, toxic fumes, and volatile flame-mable gases generated under the high temperature and resultant pressure through the restricted stairwells were sufficient to kill by asphyxiation and suffocation some 30 persons in the two top floors, although no actual fire reached those floors."

Fire Escapes Useless
The report points out that "fire escapes, attached to the exterior walls of the building may in some instances provide safety to occupants in buildings of limited heights, but it is questionable whether they could have furnished a safe means of egress in the Winecoff hotel, where intense and simultaneous belching of fire from practically all windows on the floors above the third would have vitiated their usefulness."

The report states: "The absolute necessity for secondary means of egress and exit to the outside of the building at ground level, in the form of interior enclosed stairways is unquestioned, and the required number of such secondary means of egress is dependent on the specific design and physical characteristics of the building."

Among the conclusions of the investigating committee are the following:
"The need for more careful planning of buildings with high human occupancy is emphasized with respect to arrangement and capacity of egress facilities, properly protected areas of refuge, horizontal and vertical barriers against the spread of fire and properly enclosed exitways in sufficient number to provide accessible and safe egress to the street."

Relieving Pressures
"The holocaust demonstrated the importance of relieving the high-temperature pressures generated in fires, which result in flash-fire effects, and the disposal of the poisonous gases resulting therefrom. Under the conditions which pre-valled in the Winecoff hotel, the high temperature-pressure were magnified many times with resultant increase in the velocity of travel of the hot gases."

"More rigid requirements are indicated to restrict the amount of combustible finishes and decorations on walls and ceilings even when applied to incombustible backing, in required exitways, of buildings designed for high human occupancies, the use of combustible trim should be especially prohibited."

U. S. Red Purge Threat To All, Moscow Claims

LONDON, March 28.—(INS)—Radio Moscow charged today that United States plans to ferret out Communists in government service is aimed not only against Communists but also against all progressive and Democratic people.

The American program was brought up in connection with a commentary on President Truman's recent address urging aid to Greece and Turkey to prevent spread of Communism in the Mediterranean. The commentator declared:

"The American public quite naturally links the newly proclaimed foreign policy with reactionary measures of home policy which has just been announced."

"Orders for discharge of disloyal elements from the government machinery is an unprecedented act in the history of the United States."

Explaining that a "ramified apparatus for purging will be created," the commentator added:

"The system will spread its tentacles among million of people employed in civil service and will be aimed not only against Communists but against all progressive and democratic people."

ATHENS, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Military sources in Athens reported today that a new fierce battle is in progress in Central Greece between a thousand guerrilla troops and forces of the regular Greek army.

The battle was said to have started Thursday morning when regular forces sent aircraft and artillery into action around Mount Vardousia.

The action was started in an attempt to capture the guerrilla stronghold of Artotynas, 20 miles southwest of Lamia, in central Greece.

Accounts to the Greek capital said Artotynas was captured and that 50 guerrillas surrendered.

The Greek army reported the capture of much guerrilla equipment.

MARRIAGE VS. DIVORCE

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(INS)—There were almost twice as many marriages and divorces in Las Vegas during 1946 as there were in 1945. Records of Clark County Clerk Gertrude Messengale show that 6,054 divorces were granted in 1946 and 3,595 in 1945. The marriage score far outnumbered the divorces. There were 21,077 marriage licenses issued during 1946 and 11,190 during 1945. The 1946 divorce rate in Las Vegas was an all-time high, but Cupid failed to hit the mark he set in 1941 when 21,308 marriage licenses were issued.

Hope To Send Senate Probers To Blast Scene

Public Lands Sub-Committee
Group May Leave Soon
To Check Mine Explosion

By FRANK E. ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—Chairman Butler (R) Neb., of the Senate public lands committee said Thursday he hopes to send a group of senators to Centralia, Ill., this week for an on-the-spot opening of the Senate-ordered probe of the tragic coal mine explosion.
Butler said he would pick a sub-committee today for the investigation of the blast that trapped 130 miners in the government-operated mine.
If possible, he added, the subcommittee will go to Centralia immediately.
Butler said he put committee staff members to work last night doing preparatory work for the probe.
At the same time, senators saw indications that there will be legislative attempts to tighten the mine inspection procedure and possibly revamp the Smith-Connally act under which the government holds possession of the mines.
To Bolster Lewis
Sen. Capehart (R) Ind., predicted the tragedy will "strengthen the hand" of United Mine Worker Chief John L. Lewis in his demands for greater safety provisions and for liberal maintenance of the UMW welfare fund. Capehart said:
"We should have mine safety laws with teeth in them. Sufficient money should be appropriated to provide adequate mine inspection."
Meanwhile, Sen. Donnell (R) Mo., struck back at Democratic assertions that Interior Secretary Julius Krug was not responsible because the government operation was merely "technical."
Donnell told the Senate:
"If United States took possession of the mines and then coolly disregarded their responsibility we had better pass further legislation to awaken the executive branch to its legal and moral as well as 'technical' responsibility."

Law Powerless
He declared there was nothing in the existing law to authorize a merely "technical" possession of the mines.
The Senate passed speedily the resolution of Sen. Brooks (R) Ill., calling for the investigation.
Action followed a party-line fight in which Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., labeled Krug "an arrogant bureaucrat" and charged that the interior department did nothing about an inspector's report of safety agreement violations at the Centralia No. 5 mine.
Meanwhile, there was speculation over whether, since the government is at least the "technical" operator of the mines, injured miners or their families would have grounds for submitting claims to Congress if laxity in the safety code is shown to have figured in accidents.

VETERANS CROWD
ENGLISH SCHOOLS
MUCH AS IN U. S.
GREELEY, Colo., Mar. 28.—(INS)—Dr. Evelyn Newman, professor Emeritus of English at Colorado State College of Education in Greeley, said today that English universities, like those in the United States, are crowded with ex-service personnel.
Dr. Newman, who has just returned from a five-month visit to England, said:
"These young English students, many of them women, are eager to learn and will prove a great benefit to their country in peacetime, just as they were in war."

William Billings (1746-1800), Boston tanner, wrote choral hymns and anthems, "The New England Psalm Singer," and others which were published between 1770 and 1794, and have recently been re-issued.

Public Lands Group In Favor Of Hawaii State

WASHINGTON, March 28.—(INS)—The house public lands committee unanimously recommended to congress today that Hawaii be admitted to the union as the 49th state.
The group's recommendation was made in a report submitted by Rep. Welch (R) Calif., committee chairman.

Welch said:
"The committee on public lands is unanimously convinced that the territory of Hawaii has met every necessary requirement to be admitted as a state of the union."
He declared that the committee's findings were based on 12 "facts and conclusions," among which were:
1. That Hawaii has had a written constitution since 1840, "attesting to the influence of American constitutional concepts upon its development."
2. That Hawaii has had an "expressed desire" to become a state since 1894.
3. That Hawaii's "political, economic and social status commend it as a modern American community."
4. That Hawaii's "strategic location in mid-Pacific with its modern facilities for transportation, communication and defense, is of immeasurable value to the nation."

Declares Competent Americans Needed To Control Aid Plan

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Assistant Secretary of State William L. Thorp declared Thursday that the most important step in aid to Greece is assurance that competent Americans will control the U. S. assistance program.
Thorp was to have appeared before the House's Action Committee, but he is ill and his address was read by George C. McGhee, special assistant to Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton.
The assistant secretary said:
"We must see to it that competent persons are sent to Greece to ensure the development of controls at key points and to supervise their applications."
Thorp, who is assistant secretary for economic affairs, said the situation in Greece is an "extreme illustration" of conditions prevailing in war-torn countries.
He said the United Nations cannot aid in the Greek emergency at this time because "Greece is faced with a need for assistance right now," and that the UN financial institutions are not yet in full operation.

Germans Clamor For More Food In Riotous Assembly

DUSSELDORF, Germany, Mar. 28.—(INS)—More than 100 thousand German men, women and children staged a riotous hunger demonstration in Dusseldorf today.
British military cars belonging to occupation forces were overturned and the angry mobs hurled stones. Crowds in an ugly mood gathered in a park in the center of the city. They bore placards which declared: "No Food, No Work," and "Don't Let Our Babies Starve."
A one-day local strike was ordered by trades unions. The action brought transport services to a standstill and closed down factories. Throughout the morning Germans marched in the streets and it appeared that the demonstrations were gaining strength.
The few uniformed British occupation troops in the streets were booed and sneered at.

Seek Intervention In Milk Dispute

New Orleans Milk Distributors Ask
Governor Act To Stop Violence
NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Governatorial intervention in the Louisiana milk strike was requested today by New Orleans milk distributors.
The distributors asked Gov. Jimmie Davis to "insure the delivery of milk in the interest of public welfare."
Meanwhile, FBI agents continued to investigate train holdups in which dairy farmers seized and dumped large quantities of milk. The violence-marked strike entered its fourth day with no negotiations set between distributors and representatives of the AFL-Teamsters Union.
The striking farmers in the Florida parishes of Louisiana are affiliated with the teamsters organization.

Protest Price Cut
The farmers are protesting a proposed cut in milk prices from $5.75 to $5.29 a hundredweight.
The union issued an ultimatum yesterday that their price demands would increase by five cents per hundred-weight every day the strike goes unsettled.
Possibility of intervention by a rival organization loomed as the Dairy Farmers Co-operative Association scheduled a mass meeting for today, announcing the group "disapproved" of the tactics used by the AFL strikers. A director of the Co-operative, Otis Bakm, was ambushed and wounded in the arm by shotgun pellets. The Co-operative is a non-unionized organization of dairy farmers.
WORKING CONDITIONS
NEW YORK.—(INS)—A Twentieth Century Fund survey estimates that average working hours in 1950 will be around 41 hours a week; in 1960 around 38 hours.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Mar. 28.—(INS)—Several of West Virginia's institutions of higher learning will soon receive surplus navy radio and radar equipment for instructional purposes, according to Acting Dean R. P. Davis of West Virginia University.

Dean Davis said the university had received 142 boxes of surplus equipment from the supply depot at Mechanicsburg, Pa.

REALTOR EMPLOYS MOBILE PHONES IN HIS FIRM'S AUTOS

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Frank G. Binswanger, Philadelphia realtor, has come up with something new in the line of selling real estate.

Binswanger has installed mobile radio-telephones in all the automobiles used by his firm.

He explained that most of his clients are industrial and retail executives, who find it difficult to leave their offices to inspect properties during working hours.

"Now, business men can leave their offices and travel with our representative and never be out of telephone contact while they ride," Binswanger said.

Senate Votes For Extension Of War Powers Measure

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The Senate voted Thursday to extend the Second War Powers Act until June 30, but exempted sugar and rubber controls from the act.

The action would end the Second War Powers Act at the same time that price control expires.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.), asked if it would not be wise to include sugar controls in the action, but no motion to that effect was made.

The Senate action thus left the sugar question unchanged through failure to include sugar in the continued War Powers control.

Rubber and sugar controls are being continued in separate legislation.

Tri-state convention of ice cream manufacturers was held Wednesday and Thursday in the William Penn hotel in Pittsburgh, with the main address given by James L. McDewitt, president of the Pennsylvania Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers.

Mr. McDewitt was invited to the convention to express labor's viewpoint in the belief that an exchange of ideas will further the friendly relationship between the manufacturers and labor.

Other speakers included I. N. Hagan, president of the association, Dr. R. C. Dayton, Reick-McJunkin company director of procurement, W. J. Shaw, Breyer Ice Cream company, Philadelphia, Miss Marcella A. Beffa, National Dairy Council, and ex-Congressman Samuel B. Pettengill.

Crop Plantings In State Expected To Be Same As 1946
By ARTHUR C. WIMER
WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 28.—(INS)—Planting intentions of Pennsylvania farmers indicate but slight increases in major crops of the state this year, the Department of Agriculture reports.

Planting plans as of March 20 suggested that 1947 harvestings would approximate those of 1946 in Pennsylvania for the following three important crops: corn 1,397,000 bushels; oats, 874,000 bushels, and hay, 2,539,000 tons.

Planting intentions forecast increases for wheat and barley production, from 911,000 bushels of wheat last year to 947,000 bushels this year, and from 109,000 to 125,000 bushels of barley.

Potato production is expected to drop slightly in the state.

WVU Alumni Have Unique Plan For Scholarship Aid
MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Mar. 28.—(INS)—A unique scholarship plan has been invoked by a group of University of West Virginia alumni through which from three to six McDowell county high school seniors will receive aid in attending the state school.

The alumni group will have five seniors chosen from each of six schools, and will have them be given competitive examination.

At the same time, the organization will hold an Easter holiday dance to raise a scholarship fund.

Those at the top in the examination will receive $100 scholarships, the number on financial success of the dance.

Huge Radar Unit To Follow Birds, Not Planes Now

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Mar. 28.—(INS)—A huge 72,000 pound radar unit, used during the war to detect enemy planes and warships, will be utilized by West Virginia University in a much more peaceable way.

The $72,000 unit will be used by the university's college of agriculture to determine the flight habits of migratory birds.

Professor Charles B. Seibert announced that the unit, designated as SCR-545, has been donated by the government for instructional and experimental purposes. It consists of a trailer and two truck loads of equipment, he added.

"Mechanization" Trend Is Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1947, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 28.—Wherever you look, you uncover a growing tendency to replace employees with machines. This widespread movement calls for the closest attention of wage-workers and businessmen alike.

History reveals, with appalling certainty, that the onrush of machinery cannot be opposed successfully. It will over-ride and opposition from labor groups, industrial competitors, legislators or ideologists. From earliest days, mechanical revolutions have rolled ahead against the most savage oppositions. This is because machinery increases production. Any agency which can do that is all-powerful. Mechanization can be put to the service of all groups.

Opportunities Outweigh Perils
As an industry becomes mechanical, instead of manual, it tends to expand. In the end it will open more jobs than it closes. Furthermore, there is every reason why such new jobs should grade higher than the old. Analyze the task of inventing, making, maintaining and bettering the machinery of today and tomorrow. Surely such expert occupation is a step ahead of primitive toil. To capitalize the opportunity, however, will demand that all of us must modernize our attitudes. Labor and management alike must set their sights on goals that are creative, constructive and productive.

The potential trouble lurking in today's trend is that the facilities and equipment can become ultra-modern while our social thinking remains medieval. This we must avoid. If the current boom in education does its work aright, we must develop a public which will be schooled in sound economics and awake to spiritual values. Only as these factors are added to mechanization can we be assured of higher standards of living and working.

Both Inside and Outside Jobs
Few groups in the nation will be able to stand complacently at the curbside and watch this forward March Of the Iron Men. The robots are not confined within factory walls. Swift changes are appearing in the farm regions, where modern equipment is taking over an ever-growing share of all farm operations. In the trucking of heavy shipments, there will be less of human struggle and the old heave-ho. At the tail-end of the truck, muscle power will be replaced by the mechanical lift. In many of the service trades, the scene is changing through introduction of pre-packaging, self-serving, vending and other modernism.

Mechanical devices are invading the last strongholds of personal labor. For instance, the job of inspection heretofore has seemed to require human senses for which no mechanism could be substituted. Yet electronic and other mechanical checks now perform with a speed and certainty which outclass humans. Heretofore, the assembling of parts into a complete article has been very difficult to mechanize; but I definitely forecast its accomplishment. The all-automatic production plant is more than a comic-strip phantasy.

A white collar is no badge of immunity. Working in cooperation with the armed services, technical institutions have contrived brain-work machines. These are now solving problems in mathematics entirely beyond the capacity of any accountant. No job or business can afford to ignore this universal drift. For better or for worse most of us are bound to collide, sooner or later, with the floodtide of mechanism. It will influence all human activities.

Italian Government Faces Charges From Argentine Official

ROME, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The Italian government was charged with "neglect or apparent sabotage" of its recent agreement with Argentina to send 100,000 laborers to the South American country.

A high Argentine official in Rome declared that the Italian foreign office's indifference to the pact has been so pronounced as to endanger the entire future of the emigration plan. The Argentine delegation which has handled details of the arrangement was said to be considerably irritated over Italy's delay in processing the emigrants.

The first ship scheduled to take the workers to Argentina is to sail May 8, but to date not a single Italian laborer was said to have been named to go.

Brazil is the only independent nation of the western hemisphere whose language is Portuguese and the only country of Pan America to have been a empire for any length of time.

G.I. Scholars Overseas Study Under Conditions Abe Lincoln Experienced

By FRANCES MUSIC
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—GI scholars overseas are studying in surroundings that vie in ruggedness with Abe Lincoln's log cabin for posterity.

The War department disclosed that occupation soldiers are making attacks on printed words of knowledge in converted ambulances and a railway box car.

These branches of the Army's little red school house are a part of what the military terms the "greatest adult education movement of time."

It was given impetus by the statement of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, that "education is our best weapon."

Khaki clad men of the atomic age are given courses in the United States Armed Forces Institute ranging from Shakespeare to elements of electricity.

Mobile Trailers
The department said that mobile trailer units of the institute housed in six-by-sixes and converted ambulances are bringing the Army education program to occupation soldiers in the field overseas.

In the European theater a tenton air corps trailer used by Gen. Carl Spaatz, Army Air Force head, during the war has been converted into a mobile education center.

Six mobile units are making the rounds in the Pacific theater. Demands on them were said to be so great that a railway box car now is being converted into a complete institute rail unit.

The department said that currently 3,500 GI students are enrolling each month in the Pacific theater and 2,500 in the European theater.

In the latter theater the trailers are preceded by a jeep "advance agent" to advise men of Army education opportunities.

The announcement said: "With the reduced peacetime army the task of providing educational opportunities for military personnel continues unabated with the express objective of making the American soldier the best informed and best educated in any army."

It was pointed out that the education program is the subject of continual research and improvement.

Bachelor Star Searching For His 'Ideal Wife'

John Carroll Of Movies Seeking Mate; Must Have Near-Perfect Qualifications

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 28.—(INS)—John Carroll, the king-size movie star with the New Orleans drawl, is looking for a wife.

The guy isn't kidding! Carroll, who currently finished his role in "Wyoming" at Republic studios, admitted today that he is fed up with his real-life role of a bachelor.

The actor, who stands six-feet four-inches and weighs 190 pounds in his stocking feet, thinks that somewhere in this messed-up world there is his Ideal Gal.

Is Particular Gent
Carroll is a particular gent, however. His Ideal Sweetie sounds like a combination of Alice-Sil-Bre-Tue-Fire, Helen of Troy, Anne Oakley and Miss America.

Here's what his tomato must be: A wonderful cook, who must not brag about her culinary prowess. She must never ask questions if John stays out late at night with the boys.

She must be smart enough to make Brother Carroll think he is smarter than she is.

When he wants to go hunting or fishing she will go along.

She must be able to buy his ties. The chick must not use trite phrases like "Oh, yeah!" "You're Telling Me!" etcetera.

She must be entertaining, but not at other people's expense.

Must Like Planes
She must like airplanes, horses and boats, in that order.

If she's beautiful, too, that will help.

Carroll, to prove he is serious in his quest, asked us to spread the word. If any dame in the audience thinks she qualifies, write John's secretary at Republic studios, North Hollywood.

She will receive a prompt answer. That's what the man said.

Records Over Four Years Old Showing USES Payment Void

HARRISBURG, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Pennsylvania employers today could throw out employment records more than four years old on which contributions to the unemployment compensation fund have been made.

Gov. James H. Duff yesterday signed into law legislation that would eliminate the necessity of keeping such files "more than four years after contributions relating to such records have been paid." The legislation was sponsored by Rep. Henry J. Probert (R) Montgomery.

Another bill which the governor approved reduced military service requirements for general officers of the Pennsylvania National Guard from 15 to 10 years.

Sponsored by Sen. Paul M. Crider (R) Franklin, the legislation gave credit for accumulated service in the PNG, State Guard, Regular Army, Officers Reserve Corps of the United States, It also authorized the governor to appoint a National Guard commander with the rank of major general.

Six Police Officers From State Finish Work In FBI School

Chinese Troop Link-Up Disperses Red Army Pincer

PEIPING, March 28.—(INS)—Chinese government troops from the south linked forces today with Nationalist units driving down from Tsinan, capital of Shantung Province. A long-developing Communist encirclement threat was thereby dispelled.

The junction between the relief forces and units of the government's beleaguered Tsinan garrison was effected at Pacheng, 25 miles southwest of the Shantung Provincial capital.

Arrival of the relief columns at Pacheng climaxed a 140-mile northward sweep from northern Kiangsu Province through western Shantung. Though this battering 60-day advance relieved the hard-pressed Tsinan garrison, it left still unfilled its principal aim of capturing the Hsuehchow-Tsinan stretch of the Tientsin-Pukow railroad.

The government forces that moved north along the Tientsin-Pukow line had evidently been forced by swift resistance to swing out of their original line of march.

Communist positions meanwhile guarded the remaining 52 miles of track leading into Tsinan. Chinese dispatches said the Nationalist troops now were attacking eastward in a flanking movement designed permanently to wipe out the Red positions along the strategic railroad.

Clearance of the southern section of the railroad to Tsinan would probably signal the beginning of an all-out Nationalist offensive to reopen 105 miles of the Communist-dominated tracks.

This would give the Chinag Kai-Shek government through rail connections all the way from Nanjing, the national capital, up to Chang-cun in Manchuria.

PLAN POULTRY RANGE FOR CHEAPER FEED

Good legume and grass pastures provide proteins, vitamins and minerals, and permit greater use of home-grown grains in growing pullets.

Dense sod also keeps chickens out of the mud and can reduce health hazards. Egg production costs can be reduced by allowing early hatched pullets to lay on range.

Walter Aiken, Slippery Rock township turkey grower, has made good use of poultry range. Last year he pastured over 2,000 turkeys on a field which he had seeded in August, 1945. He says that poultry pasture cuts feed costs in turkey production.

Satisfactory pastures are not available now, a spring seeding can be made to furnish feed later in the season. Extension leaflet "Poultry Pastures" describes such ranges in detail. It can be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office.

City Resident For 91 Years Receives Gifts

Mrs. Robert Russell, Lifelong Resident Of City, Celebrates Birthday

When Mrs. Robert Russell, of 729 Chestnut street, celebrated her ninety-first birthday on March 21, she was remembered with such a shower of cards, messages of congratulation, and flowers from many friends and acquaintances of a lifetime here that she asked the New Castle News to come to her assistance in expressing appreciation for the many lovely remembrances.

Mrs. Russell is very active despite her years. She keeps house for her son, Robert R. Russell, and makes occasional trips downtown.

She is a lifetime resident, the former Deborah Sankey, and a member of a pioneer New Castle family. She is a sister of the late Mrs. Scott Paisley, of this city.

Overseas War Brides Enter Divorce Suits

DENVER, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Two war brides—one from England, the other from Australia—had suits for divorce on file in Denver District Court today.

Mrs. Anita M. Coulter, formerly Anita M. Bill of Middlesex, Eng., sought a divorce from Ralph S. Coulter, charging "extreme and repeated acts of physical and mental cruelty."

The Coulters were married in Middlesex July 20, 1944. They have one child, Victoria C., two years old.

In the other suit, Elsie F. Green sought a divorce from John W. Green on charges of similar nature. The couple was married February 24, 1945, in Brisbane, Australia. They also have a daughter, Patricia Ann, three months old.

Report Unrest In Spain Nears Breaking Point

LONDON, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The Madrid correspondent of the London Times reported today that political unrest in Spain has created nationwide tension reminiscent of the days immediately preceding the outbreak of the Spanish civil war.

The Times dispatch cited a clash yesterday between Monarchists and Falangists, in which 12 of the Royalists were injured, as an example of the "deplorable incidents" contributing to growing turmoil in Franco Spain.

The frequency of such skirmishes, the Times asserted, together with increased guerrilla activity, has tended to build up the general feeling of pre-civil war days.

The Hinliche or "southern people" is a pastoral tribe for Araucania, who wandered over the southern pampas of Argentina. They live in portable skin tents and subsist entirely upon meat derived from their herds of horses, cattle and sheep. They are clever artificers in leather and iron, and the women make rugs of ostrich skins and weave woollen blankets and ponchos of superior quality.

Three Members Of Chinese Narcotics Ring Are Arrested

TOKYO, Mar. 28.—(INS)—United States army headquarters in Tokyo announced the arrest of three members of a Chinese narcotics ring, including two Chinese crewmen of a British destroyer, at Yokohama.

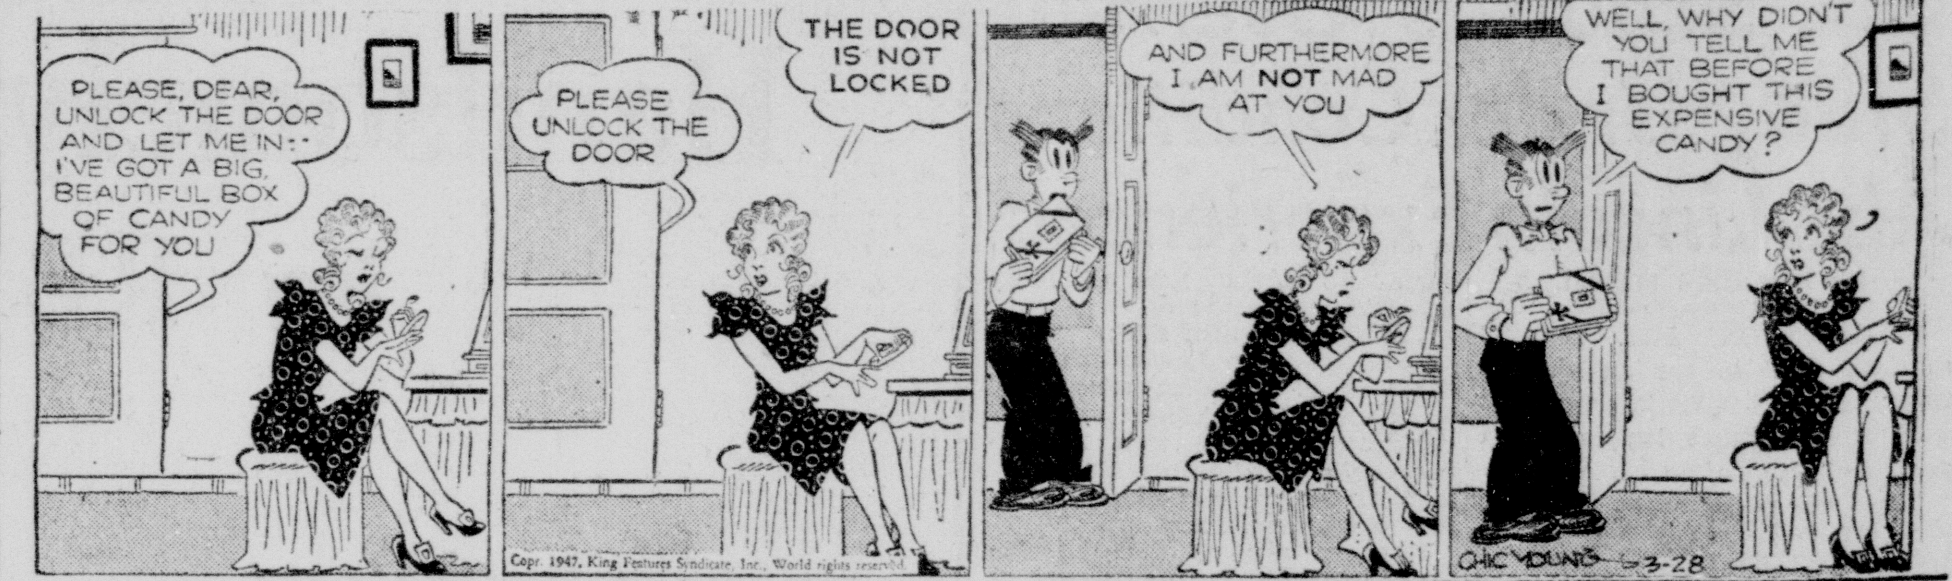

Quantities of narcotics and stolen medicinals were seized.

The narcotics ring, it was stated, operated in Yokohama's Chinatown. One of the trio arrested was Lai Pond Lee, described by American army authorities as a narcotics broker in the Chinese quarter of Yokohama.

In his possession, the announcement said, were 135 vials of penicillin and morphine and $269 in cash.

The "three apparent" to a title must succeed if he survives the present title holder. The "pre-emptive" although he, is liable to have his right to succession voided by the birth of another heir.

Former Sailors On Famous Vessel To Attend Reunion

BOSTON, Mass., Mar. 28.—Approximately 350 Pennsylvania navy veterans, former sailors who served aboard the USS Massachusetts during World War II, are expected in Boston on May 10 at the Parker

House when the second annual reunion of the mighty dreadnaught will be held in this city. Former crew members are requested to contact James L. Harrington, 11 Agawam street, Revere, Mass. Naval records reveal that when the USS Massachusetts fired the last 16-inch salvo on the midnight bombardment of Hamamatsu in the Pacific warfare, 347 residents of Pennsylvania were on board the ship. GETTYSBURG, Pa., Mar. 28.—(INS)—Coroner S. G. Criss said today an autopsy indicated Herbert Humbert, 65-year-old Adams county farmer, had been murdered. A coroner's jury will be impaneled, he added. No date was fixed. Humbert's body was found in a barn Wednesday night on his farm 10 miles north of Gettysburg; there were numerous gashes on the head and Criss had theorized death could have been accidental. A neighbor who found the body told state police he had seen the bachelor-farmer alive Monday.

Silence Prevails On Horse Racing

Little Support Seen On Proposal Now Before State Legislature

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Little support is apparent in the General Assembly for legislation authorizing horse racing but lawmakers opposing the bill are keeping mum until the last possible moment. As usual many of the so-called "big city" assemblymen, representing Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, are behind the pari-mutual legalizer while strong opposition springs from the suburban and rural groups. Opponents are keeping mum to sidestep squabbles over other legislation. If the metropolitan representatives could definitely spot opponents it would give the "big city" delegate an advantage in bargaining because they could control a sizeable number of votes against legislation favored by the rural members. It would be a case of polite and political blackmail.

Gov. James H. Duff's stand on horse racing is not known. He has said nothing and nothing has ever indicated that he frequented race tracks. The governor needs money desperately for his social improvement program and teachers salary increases but it is rather doubtful that he would brave the wrath of church and civic organizations who oppose the legislation. The bill probably will move forward in the House a couple of times to placate its sponsors but nothing hints at final passage.

The Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (CIO) has issued a legislative bulletin lacking the stinginess of the Republican dominated General Assembly which usually marked its editorials. "Enough bills have been dropped into the mill to gauge what the state legislators are thinking," reported the bulletin. "Highly commendable is the net finding that the majority want constructive action. They realize that this session of the General Assembly will be judged most by results of a progressive character."

Tom Waters, a state capitol policeman and former vaudeville performer, has turned out a book of verse based on his reflections while on duty in the state museum. The pocket-size book sells for a dollar a copy. State workers and Robert S. Frey, of York, director of the legislative reference bureau at the time of his death, urged Waters to publish the verse.

A mild epidemic of gripe and influenza has thinned the ranks of state workers at the capitol. Several cabinet officers and a score of other officials have been stricken.

The Congressional Record reveals that U. S. Sen. Edward Martin is the only member of the upper chamber to have served in the Army during the Spanish-American and World Wars 1 and 2. He was a private in 1898, a colonel in 1918 and a major general in the last war.

Urge Extension Of Super Highway To Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — The Keystone Automobile club has urged extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike to Philadelphia as "the one sure and practical method of solving the highway transportation problem between the state's largest city and the capital at Harrisburg."

J. Maxwell Smith, club president, said he has asked Governor James Duff to order a survey of a route that would "not adversely affect the richly productive farmlands and which could be built with private capital, without cost to the motor fund."

"A free road," he said, "would unquestionably be our choice if funds could be made available for a highway of adequate width, safeguarded with grade separations and other built-in features of the modern highway."

"It is, however, highly questionable whether the commonwealth would be justified in expending huge sums necessary for this route considering the many imperative demands on the motor fund."

Police Report Mother-In-Law Admits Killing

BURLINGTON, Mass., Mar. 28.—(INS)—A 65-year-old mother-in-law, "confessed" Thursday afternoon that she shot and killed her daughter-in-law, a 37-year-old bride of four months.

Police said she told them she also intended to kill her son and then take her own life because of her unhappiness over "another woman in the house."

Mrs. Grace Mills was charged with killing Mrs. Grace Downie Mills, formerly of Dedham. Before her "confession" she had accused her son, Frank Mills, 44, machinist, and he had been under questioning.

The elder Mrs. Mills, suffering from a cut-over her right eye, was formally charged with murder by Chief of Police Malcolm McEachern, who placed her under guard of a police matron at Woburn police station.

The bride was killed during the family triangle breakfast table fracas in the Mills home, a third of a mile from the scene of the sex slaying last week of Edward Flynn, Jr., 12.

It's Your Buick — but our Sweetheart

LOOK AT YOUR BUICK
everyone else does

Your Buick has lines and style that win wolf calls. Are you keeping it smart and handsome as it should be? Are you protecting its good looks, its luster and color?

There's a way to do it that Buick engineers say is right. It's called Porcelainizing. This is a power-buffed finish that gives a smooth glaze to the body paint, sealing the pores and protecting the surface against road grime and dirt.

That's the way we do it here. Try it. See how it keeps a new car lustrous longer — how it gives older ones a new lease on good looks.

IT ALWAYS PAYS TO GET BUICK CAR CARE

WHEN you first slipped behind the wheel of that Buick of yours, remember how your heart lifted? Remember your happy smile as your toe touched off the hum of Buick Fireball power? And your widening grin when all roads seemed downy as you winged along on Buick Coil springing?

That's what Buicks are built to do. And they'll do it long and well when they're cared for as anything so fine should be.

Not just an occasional oil change, mind you. Not a haphazard "Look 'er over, fill the battery, check the air." But interested, competent, understanding car care that keeps your Buick at its best.

That's exactly what we're set to give. In our shop we have the special Buick tools to do jobs quicker and better. In our parts department is a stock of Buick engineered parts for Buick cars. And we have a staff of thoughtful, capable specialists who know their Buicks lock, stock and barrel.

No, it's not ordinary service you get here. It's expert car care — by an organization devoted to seeing that you get the most out of your Buick. And surprisingly, for the same work done, it costs no more.

Think it over. Isn't it wise to let us care for your Buick? After all, Buicks are our sweethearts, first, last and always.

Laundry Profits Used To Educate Chinese Students

Delaware Laundryman Sends Money To Keep School For Women Going In China

WILMINGTON, Del., Mar. 28.—(INS)—Wilmington residents get double results when they send a shirt to George Chang's laundry.

First, they get back a clean shirt. Second, they help to send a Chinese girl to school.

Chang came to America many years ago, and returned to his native land in 1928. There, he was appalled at the lack of educational facilities for women.

He had saved a little money, and decided to set up a women's school with it on a piece of property he already owned. The first year, the school had two teachers and six students.

But the following year, the two teachers received 160 applications for admission.

Chang's funds soon ran low and he returned to America to open his laundry in Wilmington.

Before the war closed the school, he estimated its operation cost him $1,100 in Chinese money yearly. When the school reopens this year with five teachers and 200 students, it will cost $200,000 a year, he said. Chang's wife and son will live in China. His 19-year-old daughter, Grace, expects to come to America this year to attend college. Then she will return to China to help her father's educational plan.

Gasparolais Gasparilla was an officer of high rank in the Spanish navy until 1782, when having been detected in stealing the crown jewels, he stole a ship and turned pirate. In 1821 the U. S. broke up his pirate kingdom at Charlotte Harbor, Fla. He tried to sail away and to escape capture, wound a piece of anchor chain about his waist and jumped overboard, and was drowned.

PIGEON-SNARING CAMPAIGN MAY GO ON FOR SOME TIME

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — B. M. Steins' "campaign" to rid Pittsburgh's memorial hall of a flock of bothersome pigeons apparently will go on and on for quite some time.

The pigeon-raiser has been attempting to "evict" the birds for two months. Thus far he has captured only 42 of an estimated 300 roosting in the eaves of the building.

When Stein was first authorized by the county to trap the birds he was sure he could nab them using feed for bait. County officials weren't so sure.

Following his latest report, a county official mused: "I don't know—maybe he's trapping them with some kind of music-building breakfast food. They're still zipping around the hall in flocks."

Good Year Seen For Junior Teams

Nine Teams Represented At American Legion Junior League Meeting Last Night

Indications point to a banner season in American Legion Junior League here this year, the pre-season interest being stronger, this year than in several years, as indicated by the enthusiasm shown by team representatives at the first meeting held in the Legion Home, Thursday evening.

A. Wesley Mann, Jr., chairman for the Perry S. Gaston Post's Junior League program, outlined the plans for the year to those present. Teams which were represented were: North Hill Cards, Independent Nine, Croton A. C., Wagner Panthers, Lockley Machine, Columbus A. C., who had teams in the league last year; Ecclesiastians Club, Dean Park Dodgers, and South Side Wolverines.

The final meeting for the formation of the league will take place on Thursday evening, April 3, at 7:30 o'clock in the Legion Home, and teams who wish a franchise in the league, must have a representative at this meeting.

At the close of league play, a team which will represent the post in district competition will be selected, and it is hoped to have a strong aggregation in the field this year.

Herman On Second, And Pirates Win

Wally Westlake Homers, Driving In Three Pittsburgh Runs; Nagy Stars

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Mar. 28.—(INS)—Hank Greenberg, sidelined with an ailing elbow the past week, may return to the Pittsburgh Pirates lineup for today's training camp game with Washington, and Manager Billy Herman may be on second base again.

Herman shook up his lineup somewhat yesterday, took over second from Eddie Basinski, and the Blues blasted the St. Louis Browns, 7-1. Nick Strincevich and Rookie Steve Nagy held the Browns to four hits, one of them a homer by Chuck Stevens. Rookie Wally Westlake hit a round-tripper for the Pirates, and drove in three runs.

Only Few More Days To Train

Julius West To Battle Tony Zanish In Feature Bout Monday

Only a few more days remain for 16 fighters, docketed in eight amateur bouts at the Arena, Monday night, to polish their bodies into condition for a grueling fight.

Julius West, Youngstown, is training hard and the same report has been received concerning Tony Zanish, rival middleweights, who are engaged to appear in the finale of the show.

West stopped Johnny Toth here and Zanish caught Billy Bracey on one of his sluggish nights, and Zanish copped the decision. The fight should be interesting.

Elisco Off Card

Johnny Luciano, who handles the affairs of Guy Elisco, Seventh ward heavyweight, has ranked his protégé from the card, asserting he believes Sam Santaforte of Struthers, is too good for Guy.

Less than 10 minutes after Guy was pulled from the card, Matchmaker Tom Leach had a substitute in his place. He is Harry Millich, of Youngstown, who jumped at the chance to fight Big Sam.

Elkins Brothers, who ripped through opposing football lines at New Castle high hopes to slug his way to a win over Rialeri Roazi, a heavyweight of Youngstown. It is his debut, but regardless, he hopes to win.

Should Be In "Pink" He should be in condition because he trained for 10 days with Russ Baxter, prior to Russ' defeat by Charlie Hayes and has been training regularly at the Jefferson A. C. this week. Ronzi is a hard nut to crack.

Chuck Gibbons, of Ellwood City, hopes to annex another win to his string when he takes on Billy Mattegall of Youngstown, at 145. It will be Mattegall's first bout here.

Fans are looking forward to see Johnny Toth of Alliquippa pull some new tricks on Charlie Pastorevich of Youngstown, at 160. Tommy Dye, Youngstown, battles Moe Shaffer, Alliquippa in one of the other three bouts on the card.

President William Sands and Bill Usselson of the New Castle Boosters club are hustling day and night to cause a big attendance. The money the club will receive will be devoted to a war memorial movement, they report.

Basketball Loop Meeting Sunday

Organization of a strong independent city basketball league for next winter will take place at the Arena Sunday at 2 o'clock with at least 18 teams expected to enter the loop. Considerable talk has been heard for a city league and the venture will be tried out here.

Pulaskis Await Canton Quintet At Arena Sunday

Strong Local Independent Five Playing Canton Cushites, Colored Pros

New Castle basketball fans will see their first professional floor game here this year, at the Arena Sunday when the K. Pulaskis, strong local independent team, will battle the powerful Canton Cushites, all-Negro quintet. The game starts at 4 o'clock.

DON HEDDLESTON

Manager and Coach Gonet of the Pulaskis and his assistant, Leo Evans, have secured the services of several Western League stars for the game here, including "Chuckling" Demblaski, 6-foot 4-inch, fourth highest collegiate scoring star in the state. Don Heddleston, the veteran will-of-the-wish Titan forward, and a great asset to the Westerner team, Dean Nelson, a valuable guard and big Preddy Paine, 6-foot 6-inch guard.

The Canton team, defeated here early in the season by the K. P. team at the K. P. Hall, later handed the locals a thrashing at Canton, and are anxious to win the "rubber contest".

In the Canton lineup are stars from several well-known national quintets—Vee Willie Smith, former New York Renaissance star, Arthur Grant, formerly with the Harlem Globe Trotters, Ernie Parks and Jasper Harris, former Ohio State stars, and Horace Gilmon and Marion Motley, national-known pro grid players with the Cleveland Browns.

Have Fine Record In addition to the Westminster players, Coach Gonet will have Freddy Wimer, Salem College, high-scoring forward, Billy Andrews, Joey Cooper, John Zubkowsky, Bus Davis, Pat Patterson and others.

The K. Pulaskis have won two tournaments at East Liverpool and Hubbard, and have a record of 45 wins and six defeats this season, with wins over some of the strongest independent teams in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio.

Filchock-Hapes Decision Soon

Filchock-Hapes Decision Soon

Bert Bell National Pro Football Commissioner Will Make Decision Known Shortly

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Professional football league, told International News Service Thursday that he will hand down his decision in the league's sensational "fix" case within a week.

Bell said Frankie Filchock and Merle Hapes, backfield stars for the New York Giants whose names were aired throughout the investigation of the attempt to "fix" the 1946 league championship game, are still under suspension pending the decision.

Completing Probe "The decision on their future status," he said, "will be announced as soon as the investigation by the league and the New York district attorney's office is completed, and that should be within a week."

The commissioner said he had not heard of reports that Merle Hapes had quit the Giants and had signed to coach the Byram Consolidated schools in the rural district south of Jackson, Miss.

"Anything he may do will not have any bearing on the decision," Bell said. "The league statement, in any event, will include both players."

KIWANIS GROUP AGAIN BACKING WILMINGTON CLUB

NEW WILMINGTON, Mar. 28.—The Kiwanis club will again sponsor the local entry in the North County baseball league, according to William Hartwell, club president.

The team won the championship last year after an interesting play-off series with Mahoningtown. Practically all the players on last year's club will again be available.

CHERRY STREET TEAM WILL MEET APRIL 13

Managers Anthony Battilo, 211 West Cherry street, and Arch Cepro, 209 North First street, have issued a call for the initial spring meeting of the Cherry street baseball club.

All former team members and boys who desire to play with the team during the summer are to report at the Cherry street field on April 13 for instruction.

Cerdan-Green Fight Tonight

Cerdan-Green Fight Tonight

By DAVIS J. WALSH (International News Service Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, Mar. 28.—They're taking the slip-covers off Marcel Cerdan, current show-piece of fist-cuffery, for a second American presentation at Madison Square Garden tonight in quit the gala atmosphere, complete with oclat and acclimation.

The European middleweight champion, widely touted to take the world title back with him to Paris, will be greeted this time by a capacity 19,000, a bumper $115,000 in the till and a Mr. Harold Green, who has one outstanding distinction.

Ten Round Bout

He's the other guy who doesn't pay to get in. Briefly, it'll be Marcel and Harold for a scheduled 10 rounds, with the success or failure of New York's summer season riding with the evening's developments.

If Cerdan gets nicely by Harold, preferably with a lasting conk to the countenance, he'll definitely be fighting Tony Zale for the big title within a matter of months.

City Baseball Managers Begin Signing Players

Contracts Given Managers, Three Balls Adopted At Meeting Thursday

City baseball league "race" is on. On that is—to sign ball players. Last night at the meeting of the managers and officials 460 contracts were handed out to the 16 managers.

Today the managers are busily engaged in getting the "John Hancock" on the pink sheets. By starting time in May the teams will be well set with playing material.

Hear Umpires Proposal

Del Hartung, president of the Lawrence County Umpires Association and two members of the umpires committee attended the meeting last night and gave the city league the rates for handling games this year: $5.00 for seven-inning games and $6.00 for nine-inning games, along with a large list of rules to be followed by the umpires.

The city loop managers took the matter under advisement. The managers last night adopted three standard balls, for the season—the National, American and Harwood.

Committees To Meet

The schedule committee of the league—George "Boss" Zidow chairman, Len Gilbert, Mike Duffley, Mickey Huff, Jimmy Tropea, Buddy Marino, Frank Coen and Carme DeLeon will have a meeting on April 3 at 7:30 o'clock at Carm's for the purpose of drawing up the 1947 list of games.

The rules and by-laws committee—Joe Augustine, chairman, Patsy Conti, Bob Smiley, Henry Rice, Steve Russell, John Flintall, Ralph DeMonaco, and Eugene Melchior will meet at Carm's at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of April 9th. It was announced to discuss any new rules to be incorporated this year.

Discuss Playing Fields

The matter of playing fields for the 16 teams was taken up for discussion. Several of the teams are without a field and not sure where they will play. It was decided that the league officers visit the city hall and talk over plans with the mayor and councilmen.

The Johnson-Bronze new baseball park will take care of quite a few games, this year. But more ball fields are needed here. The league will play again this year on Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday's. Providing the weather is right the next few weeks, work could be done on several ball fields.

The Brooklyn Dodgers left Panama by plane for Havana, Cuba, after what baseball writers described as 12 days of "unconditioning".

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

BIGGEST upset of the 1947 sports year occurred in New York when Utah, an 11-point underdog, upset mighty Kentucky in the finals of the National Invitation tournament. The Utah five, paced by Arnold Furris, star guard, dropped the Wildcats, 40-45, before 18,467 fans. "He's quit being hard-headed and will hit to left field when necessary" writes Harry Grayson of the Newspaper Enterprise Association concerning Ted Williams of the Red Sox. Like most observers Grayson believes the 1947 world series will be a repeat between the St. Louis Cardinals and Red Sox. He concedes Detroit has a great pitching staff, but views the infield as questionable. That weakness can offset good pitching. . . . Alex Williams, mayor of Vergo Beach, Fla., and a state legislator has declared that "something must be done to stop the stinking prize fights being promoted in Florida." He was particularly critical of the Joe Maxim-Marty Clark fight which was conducted recently.

Walter Prensar is a K-Pulaski booster, first, last and all the time. . . . Johnny Mangino is looking over his fishing tackle, and with Herman Steinbrink, is looking forward to trout season, after which they'll dream of Canada bass fishing. . . . Fifty hens and 50 cocks are expected here today from Northern Wisconsin and will be stocked by Sheriff Frank Coen and aides. . . . By the way don't forget the Sportmen's banquet of the Lawrence County Association, April 10, in the Cathedral. . . . Henry Rodgers, Bob Lamoree and Rev. D. L. Ferguson are arranging it. . . . Beaver Valley Beagle club will be host to 12 other clubs in the Tri-state trials March 28-30. . . . The Paterson, N. J., Evening News is starting a campaign to have Commissioner Happy Chandler appoint Babe Ruth as "American baseball's ambassador of good will," according to Hugh Fullerton, Jr. Since his retirement baseball has never given Ruth anything but cheers. . . . This time, two years ago people were making gardens. They're now cleaning snow from sidewalks.

Billy Fessler is a paintin' following a several weeks' illness. . . . The state house has passed finally and sent to the senate a measure requiring the state game commission to pay a bounty of at least $4 for each fox killed in Pennsylvania. However, the bill in the senate, to increase the resident fishing license fee from $1.50 to $2, has been delayed pending minor amendments, so that half of the 50 cent increase is used only for acquiring new fishing waters and building dams. The bill would earmark the new fund for a study of better angling methods as well. . . . Representatives from Toledo, Erie, Cincinnati, Fort Wayne, Louisville, Youngstown, Columbus, Kansas City, St. Louis and Indianapolis have been invited by the American Football league to meet at Akron, April 5, to plan a reorganization of the circuit's western division. Five of these cities will be chosen to join with Akron to form the league's western division. . . . Sam Leycock will referee Monday night's Booster club fights which the Jefferson A. C. will stage.

Bob Garbark, baseball coach at Allegheny County, has been named recreation director of Meadville. . . . Art Alexander will handle that role for New Castle this summer. . . . Incidentally, it might be remarked that since the creation of recreation measures here juvenile delinquency has dropped to almost nothing. . . . Keep 'em busy with the cleaner things of life and they won't expend energy in the wrong direction. . . . Bill Sands, president, and Bill Usselson, New Castle Boosters, plus Rube Kennedy, are busy as paper hangers with the itch disposing of Booster fight ducats. . . . Mexican league, with six teams, opened the season yesterday. Pacific coast circuit starts Tuesday.

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 28.—(INS)—The National Association's first annual umpire clinic opened on Thursday with simultaneous sessions in each of the seven minor league zones.

Eddie Rommel will be chief instructor at zone one at Harrisburg, Pa.

Bob Garbark, Allegheny college diamond coach, played with 11 different teams during his 14 years of professional baseball.

Pennant prospects of the New York Yankees soared as a result of the apparent comeback of Marius Russo, a crack southpaw in 1943.

Conn Has Score To Settle With Yarosz Family

If Conn Tries Comeback He Will Seek Bout With Tommy Yarosz, He Says

By JIMMY JORDAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 28.—If Billy Conn hits the ring comeback trail, it may start a backyard family grudge battle with an overweight middleweight early next summer.

Tommy Yarosz, young brother of ex-champion Teddy Yarosz, would be the party of the second part. The bout undoubtedly would be a sellout in Forbes field, with an indicated gross take of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

At least, that was the indication emanating today from the sanctum of the Rooney-McGinley Boxing club, Pittsburgh's promoters.

Score To Settle
Conn, they say, is anxious to get Yarosz to settle old scores with Tommy's family. Back in the days when he was struggling for top billing, Billy took a couple of wallopings from Teddy Yarosz that he can't forget.

Yarosz said there is nothing he'd like better than to get into the ring with Conn, just to see who knocks whom out. Tommy has won his last 39 straight bouts, and while not a "killer", he has won more than a third of those fights by knockouts.

Peter J. (Bunny) Buntag, Yarosz's manager, who also is anxious for the match, said he believed Yarosz could win it easily. He added:

"He could outbox Conn without trouble. He might even knock him out. But I'm not worried about the outcome, nor about Conn's weight."

The United States bought the Virgin Islands for $25,000,000 during World War I.

LAWTON CARVER
International News Service

NEW YORK, Mar. 27.—Such celebrated pastimes as poker, gin rummy and other such games seem about to be entirely divorced from baseball.

The inalienable right of the ball player to enjoy a game of chance with colleagues during spare time rapidly is being upended and cast away, like something touched by the plague.

Most ball players nowadays can read and faced by necessity probably will turn to books and things during their idle hours, but if the no-card-playing edict becomes general there will be many a lonely man in the majors next season.

Time On My Hands
They only have to work three or four hours a day, counting the time it takes them to get from clubhouse to field for pre-game workouts. Allowing another eight hours for sleep and, say, three hours for a couple of meals, they have about 10 hours with nothing to do. You can't spend all your time in the movies.

Manager Leo Durocher, the harassed manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, started this reform wave and now the New York Yankees have posted a notice in their locker room saying no card playing would be permitted.

Part of this wave of righteousness is traceable to the gambling craze and scandals which have gone parading through the sports pages of late. Even dime and a quarter stand is held to be an evil by this time.

Used To Have Fun
There was a time when baseball was composed largely of good clean fun, including the harmless card playing among the most illustrious and the least known stars. Everybody sat in and had a great time.

But now, under the bludgeoning of headlines on the crookedness in sports, a man fears to be caught at even a church bingo.

This is to be expected, even though the necessity for cutting out the fun, may be questioned. The baseball people by this time have their fill of anything and everything that even faintly resembles gambling.

The current hearing before Commissioner Happy Chandler at Sarasota, Fla., in its essence makes about as much sense as the ban against friendly card-playing. But gambling is such a terrible thing now that a couple of gentlemen alleged to be gamblers brought on this furore at Sarasota merely by being seated in the vicinity of Larry MacPhail, of the Yankees, in Havana.

Perhaps that incident had something to do with the Yankees' new card-playing ban. However, what one of these incidents may have to do with the other is not apparent.

Big Shakeup
The biggest of all anti-gambling shakeups occurred at Brooklyn when Branch Rickey took over as president and found that the players had been used to playing each other for high stakes.

He talked that over with Durocher at considerable length and when Durocher finally was confirmed as manager under Rickey, the former went to great pains in taking the rap for the card-playing and in promising that there wouldn't be any more of the evil around the joint.

That settled the Dodge issue more or less permanently. But I'll bet you a fellow can play cards in his own room if he wants to—or can he?

NEW YORK, Mar. 28.—(INS)—One of baseball's most interesting innovations of recent seasons will be on display next season at several parks.

This thing started as an experiment and wound up as a leading feature of the last world series, the same being the shift against Williams.

That's one thing that Ted of the Boston Red Sox has that Ruth, Cobb, Speaker and all the other great hitters did not encounter. Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians started it. Other picked it up in modified form and there it was in the world series.

Teds Fools Them
The shift against Williams' dead right field hitting as practiced by the Indians was about the same as the shift utilized by Manager Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals at the start of the world series.

Then one day during that series Williams slapped one down the third base lane as an easily bunted roller. From then on, Dyer did not shift his entire infield to left. He kept Whitey Kurowsky on third base to stop Williams from bunting. There is one for the book: A team lining up to prevent Williams from bunting.

Anyhow, the long and lanky kid from Boston has caused the opposition to reorganize its defenses and it will be interesting next season to see what comes of all this.

Style Unchanged
Not the least interesting aspect of the situation is the fact that Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox has wisely determined not to change Williams' batting style.

There have been many suggestions to the effect that Williams should be instructed to hit to left and to center on the full swing and thus keep the defense mixed up. But Cronin will be content to have Williams merely hit the ball. He doesn't care where. He shouldn't. Williams hit over 400 one year.

Williams is one of the longest hitters in the history of baseball and Cronin operates on the seemingly sound theory that there is no defense against a ball driven over the fence. Williams will get his share over the walls in pursuing his own way of hitting. To start tampering with his swing might mean to cut down on his production.

Was Series Flop
There haven't been many more dismal flops in the world series than Williams was last year, but that wasn't traceable so much to the shift. It was Cardinal pitching that stopped him.

Cronin got an eye full of that. He did not pester Williams for a moment. He let the kid go up there and take his cut and he plans to continue on that basis next season.

The opposition can't stop a Williams over a long haul as the Cardinals did for seven games. The Cardinals paid no attention to the other Red Sox. Rudy York and some of the others plastered the ball all over the premises. Nobody minded. They set out to stop Williams and they did a great job of it.

That, however, was only seven games. The season is 154 games.

One-Armed Boxer, Harvard Champion

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Mar. 28.—(INS)—One-armed Tommy Rod-ners was today Harvard university's 155-pound boxing champion.

Rodgers, 20-year-old Pittsburgh junior, scored a technical knockout victory over Somersby Dowst of Exeter, N. H., in the second round of the championship match.

The one-armed victor knocked his opponent to the canvas twice in the round for nine counts. The bout was halted when Dowst rose for the second time in a dazed condition.

Rodgers lost his left arm and his younger brother, Doland, was killed in a train wreck in 1942.

He took up boxing at Harvard as part of his field in compulsory athletics. He played football, boxed, and was a member of the track team in prep school.

Casiano Holds Fore To Draw

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Johnny Forte of South Philadelphia, and Lou Casiano of New York shared a draw today after an uneventful eighth-round bout at the Met. Each weighed 130½.

In other fights, Johnny Williams, 141, New York, kayaked Blind Tomay, 146, Philadelphia (2), and Tomay, 146, Philadelphia, dropped Jimmy Long, 177, Chester, six times (2).

Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis, Army's All-American touchdown twins, will seek fresh glory in a new field of athletic endeavor—basketball and track.

Whiz on Skis

ALTHOUGH she is only 14 years old, Andrea Mead of Rutland, Vt., has been selected on the women's downhill and slalom team to compete for the U. S. in the Olympic Games next February in Switzerland. Miss Mead, a high school freshman, was one of the stars in the U. S. Olympic tryouts at Sun Valley, Idaho. (International)

Football Coaches Will Have Clinic

Dr. John Sutherland Will Conduct Session At Pittsburgh Saturday For Over 100 Mentors

PITTSBURGH, March 27.—(INS)—Western Pennsylvania's high school football coaches will gather in Pittsburgh Saturday for a day-long "skull session" on the intricacies of grid formations at the first postwar clinic.

More than 100 "schoolboy mentors" are expected for the one-day discussion to be conducted by Dr. John B. (Jack) Sutherland of the Pittsburgh Steelers, and a staff of four assistants.

Will Go Over Plays
Successful plays developed by both pros and college clubs during the past year, training methods and other phases in development of a football team will be explained by Dr. Sutherland and his aides.

While Sutherland, both during his successful tenure as football coach at the University of Pittsburgh and later as a pro coach, always has favored a deceptive single wingback attack, and granite lines, his clinic also will feature the intricate "T" formation, and variations of that with both the single and double wingbacks.

Stress Defense
Defense, of course, will come in for a big share of the discussions, with specific defense for each type of offense to be outlined.

Pictures of professional games, much of this phase in slow motion, will be used to illustrate each point.

The clinic will close with an open forum at which Dr. Sutherland and his aides—Johnny Micholosen, Frank Souchak, Tiger Walton and Mike Nixon—will answer questions.

Armed-Assault Match Assured

NEW YORK, Mar. 28.—(INS)—The outstanding horse race of 1947 will take place at the Jamaica race track on May 3 when—barring accidents in the meantime—Armed Assault will tangle up for the first time.

It was learned that both have been nominated for the mile and an eighth Grey Lag handicap, and possibly will go against each other again on May 9 in the mile and three-sixteenths Dixie handicap at Pimlico. Armed won this fixture last year.

The clash of these two may be lacking in thrills as big extravaganzas in all sports sometimes are and either or both may be trounced by some outsider, but on paper this is one of those so-called dream tussles. These are the big horses of the moment.

HIT-RUN DRIVER HELD IN ACCIDENT

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 28.—(INS)—George H. Maderia, 25, Reading, Pa., truck driver, today was charged with hit and run driving after his truck had a brush with a streetcar.

Maderia was arrested in an East McKeesport restaurant by Pittsburgh Traffic Patrolman Vincent Horner an hour after the accident on a Pittsburgh street last night.

Horner commandeered a car and went in search of the truck, which left the scene.

A. Edward Palmer, 23, motorman of the streetcar, suffered a back injury in the accident and was hospitalized.

There'll be no shortage of paper for football diagrams at Allegheny college next fall. Bill Oaddio, new Gator grid coach, is a paper salesman in the off-season.

Joyce Loses Sight In Eye

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 28.—(INS)—Willie Joyce, Philadelphia lightweight, today was listed by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission as permanently unavailable because of the "loss of sight in one eye".

Lou Gross, manager of the former Gary, Ind., negro, was suspended from boxing for 60 days for "actions detrimental to boxing".

Joyce was examined after he was believed to have suffered from faulty vision in losing a bout to Johnny Cesario in Boston last Monday.

The commission's action canceled a scheduled match between Joyce and Freddy Russo of Rahway, N. J., which was to have been staged at the Arena April 14.
